A Feeling Of Togetherness...

Togetherness, more than anything, makes Southview work ... helping a friend with his homework, smiling at a familiar face in the hall, supporting the athletic teams, volunteering to assist a teacher, locking arms at a pep assembly and singing the alma mater with conviction ... these all, in their own way, help to make Southview work. Look around; it is visibly written on the face of every student, teacher, parent, and school helper who, in some way, contributes to the binding unity of this school.

Togetherness ... but what exactly does it mean? That one word is the expression of so many shared feelings, thoughtful acts, and unspoken words. It is obvious wherever one looks at Southview, from classrooms to sporting events.

As we embarked on the 1980-81 school year, we all anticipated it with different emotions. We automatically laughed at the Freshmen, but at the same time never hesitated to help them adjust; we willingly initiated them into our school until they blended and merged and the school became one.

The people of Southview are unique and have so much to be proud of. We consistantly rank higher than national averages on achievement tests, we have successful and determined athletic teams, and we are capable of generating an unparalleled amount of school spirit and loyalty at any sporting event ... and we do it together.

A complaint was raised at one point during the year that class rivalry during pep assemblies was destroying the oneness of the school, and so class cheers were terminated. Of course there was class rivalry — that helped to make the assemblies more fun. But once freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors were all together in the bleachers at a sporting event, class competition was set aside for the time. The rivalry was centered on the opposing team and the four classes never failed to become one.

The high school years are a vital part of the growing process. The teachers and students we must come in contact with every day help to shape and mold us until we emerge on Graduation Day as finished products-a little bruised, a little more experienced, and quite a long way from Freshman year. It is easy now to laugh at the past — and not as easy to laugh at the future. It holds many uncertainties; obtaining a good high school education, both academically and socially, is half of the battle. Southview students, whether attending business, vocational, or college preparatory classes, receive a quality education from experienced teachers who care.

There is enough diversity among the personalities in our student body to make friends and to obtain the experience needed to succeed socially.

It is often said that one only gets out what one puts into something. Even here it is true. There is something at Southview for anyone who is willing to spend a little extra time studying, or acting, or practicing, to gain the personal reward that he seeks.

High school is just another step up on the ladder. To leave it feeling personally satisfied is to have accomplished the goals set by all of the parents, faculty, administrators, and students who have worked so hard to make this school the best that it can be.

Southview as it is in 1981 is a culmination of five years worth of ideas, consideration, and hard work. Many people have come and left Sylvania Southview, and each and every one of those people has left his imprint, his unique addition to the feeling of this school.

Explore the pages of this book. And after that, explore Southview ... its halls, its classrooms, its people. Experience, for yourself, the feeling of togetherness.

Togetherness ... it is, after all, Southview.

Powderpuffers Endure Bumps And Bruises In Annual Fall Classic

One of the more exciting activities for Junior and Senior girls during Homecoming week is the annual powderpuff game. And to the suprise of nearly no one, the Seniors won this year's fall classic, 14-6.

Powderpuff really started when school began, as the two teams began practicing for the big game which was played on Tuesday, September 30. Players had to contend with bruises, broken fingers, and a multitude of pulled muscles to play a game of flag football for just one night.

After two weeks of practice the day finally came to don t-shirts and, for some, cheerleader uniforms, to get down to the business of cheering and promoting spirit on both sides that would rise throughout the day until the game at Cat Stadium that evening. The Seniors made the morning even more memorable by going to breakfast at Denny's.

Senior Dave Kent was crowned Powderpuff King, cheered on by his court of Mark Hemsath, Mark Pine, Todd Richard, Scott Spychala, and Tim Tullis. Dave's moment of happiness was enhanced by the senior victory.

Powderpuff also brought about a sense of unity for both classes — the seniors, who enjoyed their last year with a victory, and the juniors, who firmly believed that next year would be their year.

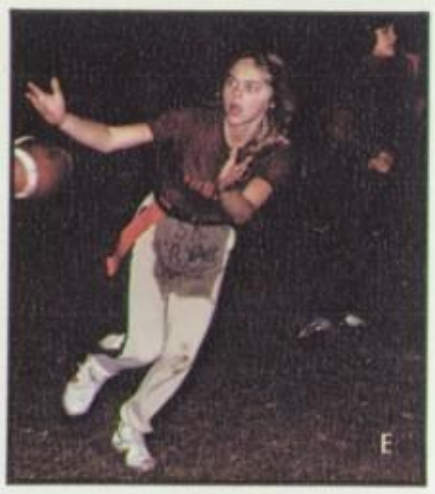
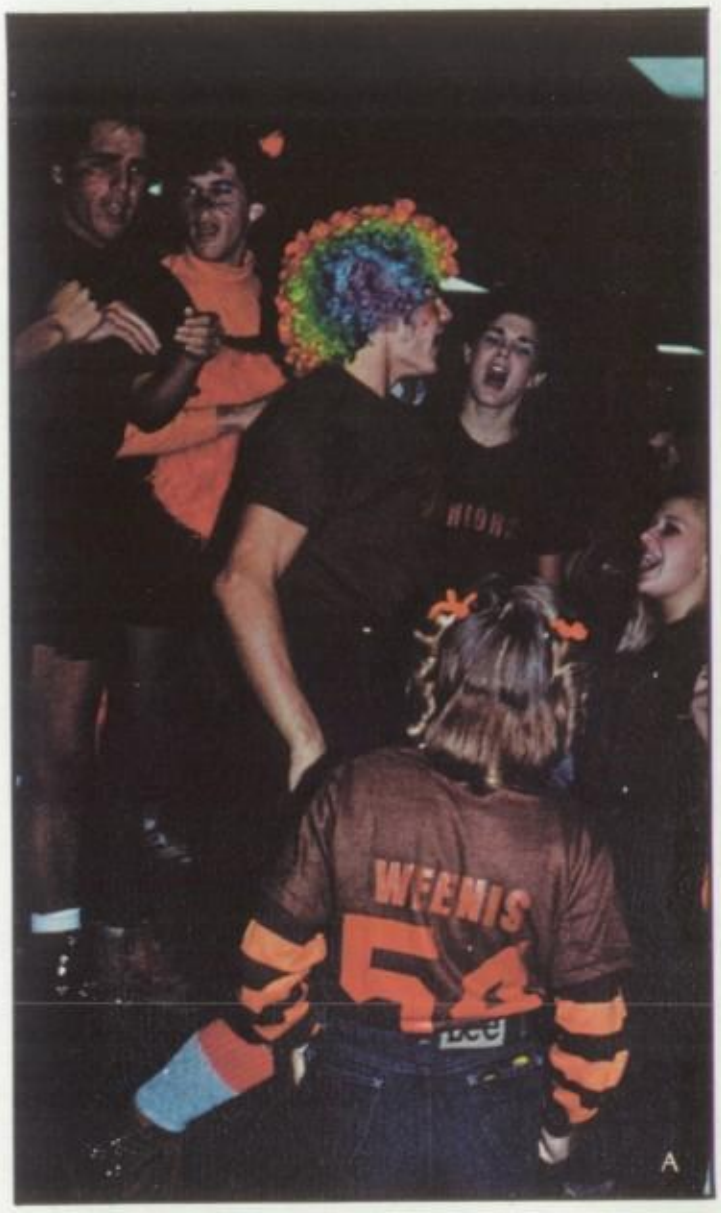
D) Senior Paula Wadsworth uses her artistic talents to transform Tim Tullis into a breathtakingly beautiful cheerleader.



E) Concentrating on nothing but the ball, Junior Chris Brummet prepares to complete a fine pass.



A) Rainbow Fro Larry Braun and his equally good-looking fellow cheerleader friends lead their team in a few spirit-rousing cheers.

B) Robin Newman, Leslie Brown, Carol Ogle, and Karen Sandvig display their class unity and boast of their impending victory.

C) Senior cheerleaders attempt a particularly difficult and complex cheer.

Homecoming '80: It Was 'Some Enchanted Evening'

This year's homecoming weekend began with Friday's pep assembly. Each class showed their support for their attendent as they were introduced. The freshman attendent was Stacie Miller, escorted by Tim Bergwall; Sophomore attendent, Andrea Harvey, escorted by Chris Gajewicz; Junior attendent, Andrea Benjamin, escorted by Steve McGill; and the Senior Court consisted of Gretchen Bear, escorted by Tom Nolan; Sandy Hernandez, escorted by Todd Bergwall; Karen Nussbaum, escorted by Mark Pine; Patty Pietrick, escorted by Dave Kent; and Connie Werner, escorted ty John Dugan.

Although the Cougars were defeated 19-6 by the Lake Flyers, the weekend was a success.

Because of the lack of funds this year, the underclassmen for the first time did not make floats, but rather drew on their ingenuity to produce colorfully decorated cars. The Senior class made the only float, a castle, based on the Homecoming theme, "Some Enchanted Evening."

At half time, the Senior Court, the underclass attendents, and their escorts assembled on the field for the

Couples Dance Amongst The Stars

After a disappointing defeat at the Homecoming game, students returned to the commons the next evening to participate in the fifth annual Homecoming Dance on Saturday, October 4.

This year's dance theme was, "Some Enchanted Evening," and the 175 couples that attended would probably agree that it was just that.

As couples entered the commons, they were greeted by Mark Sahadi, who collected bids. The couples then followed a tissue paper tunnel into the commons decorated with hanging stars and blue arches. Spotlights were directed towards the castle, taken from the Senior float.

Southview English teacher, Ms. Patty Couturier, performed with the "Can-Du" band, the group that supplied the music for this year's dance.

Many thanks went to all of the people who contributed to making Homecoming week a success. The Senior Class Student Government members helped to make the week memorable with their annual Powderpuff game, the mum sale, and the miniature castle table arrangements at the dance. The Pep Club produced the best pep assembly that the students had attended in a long time.

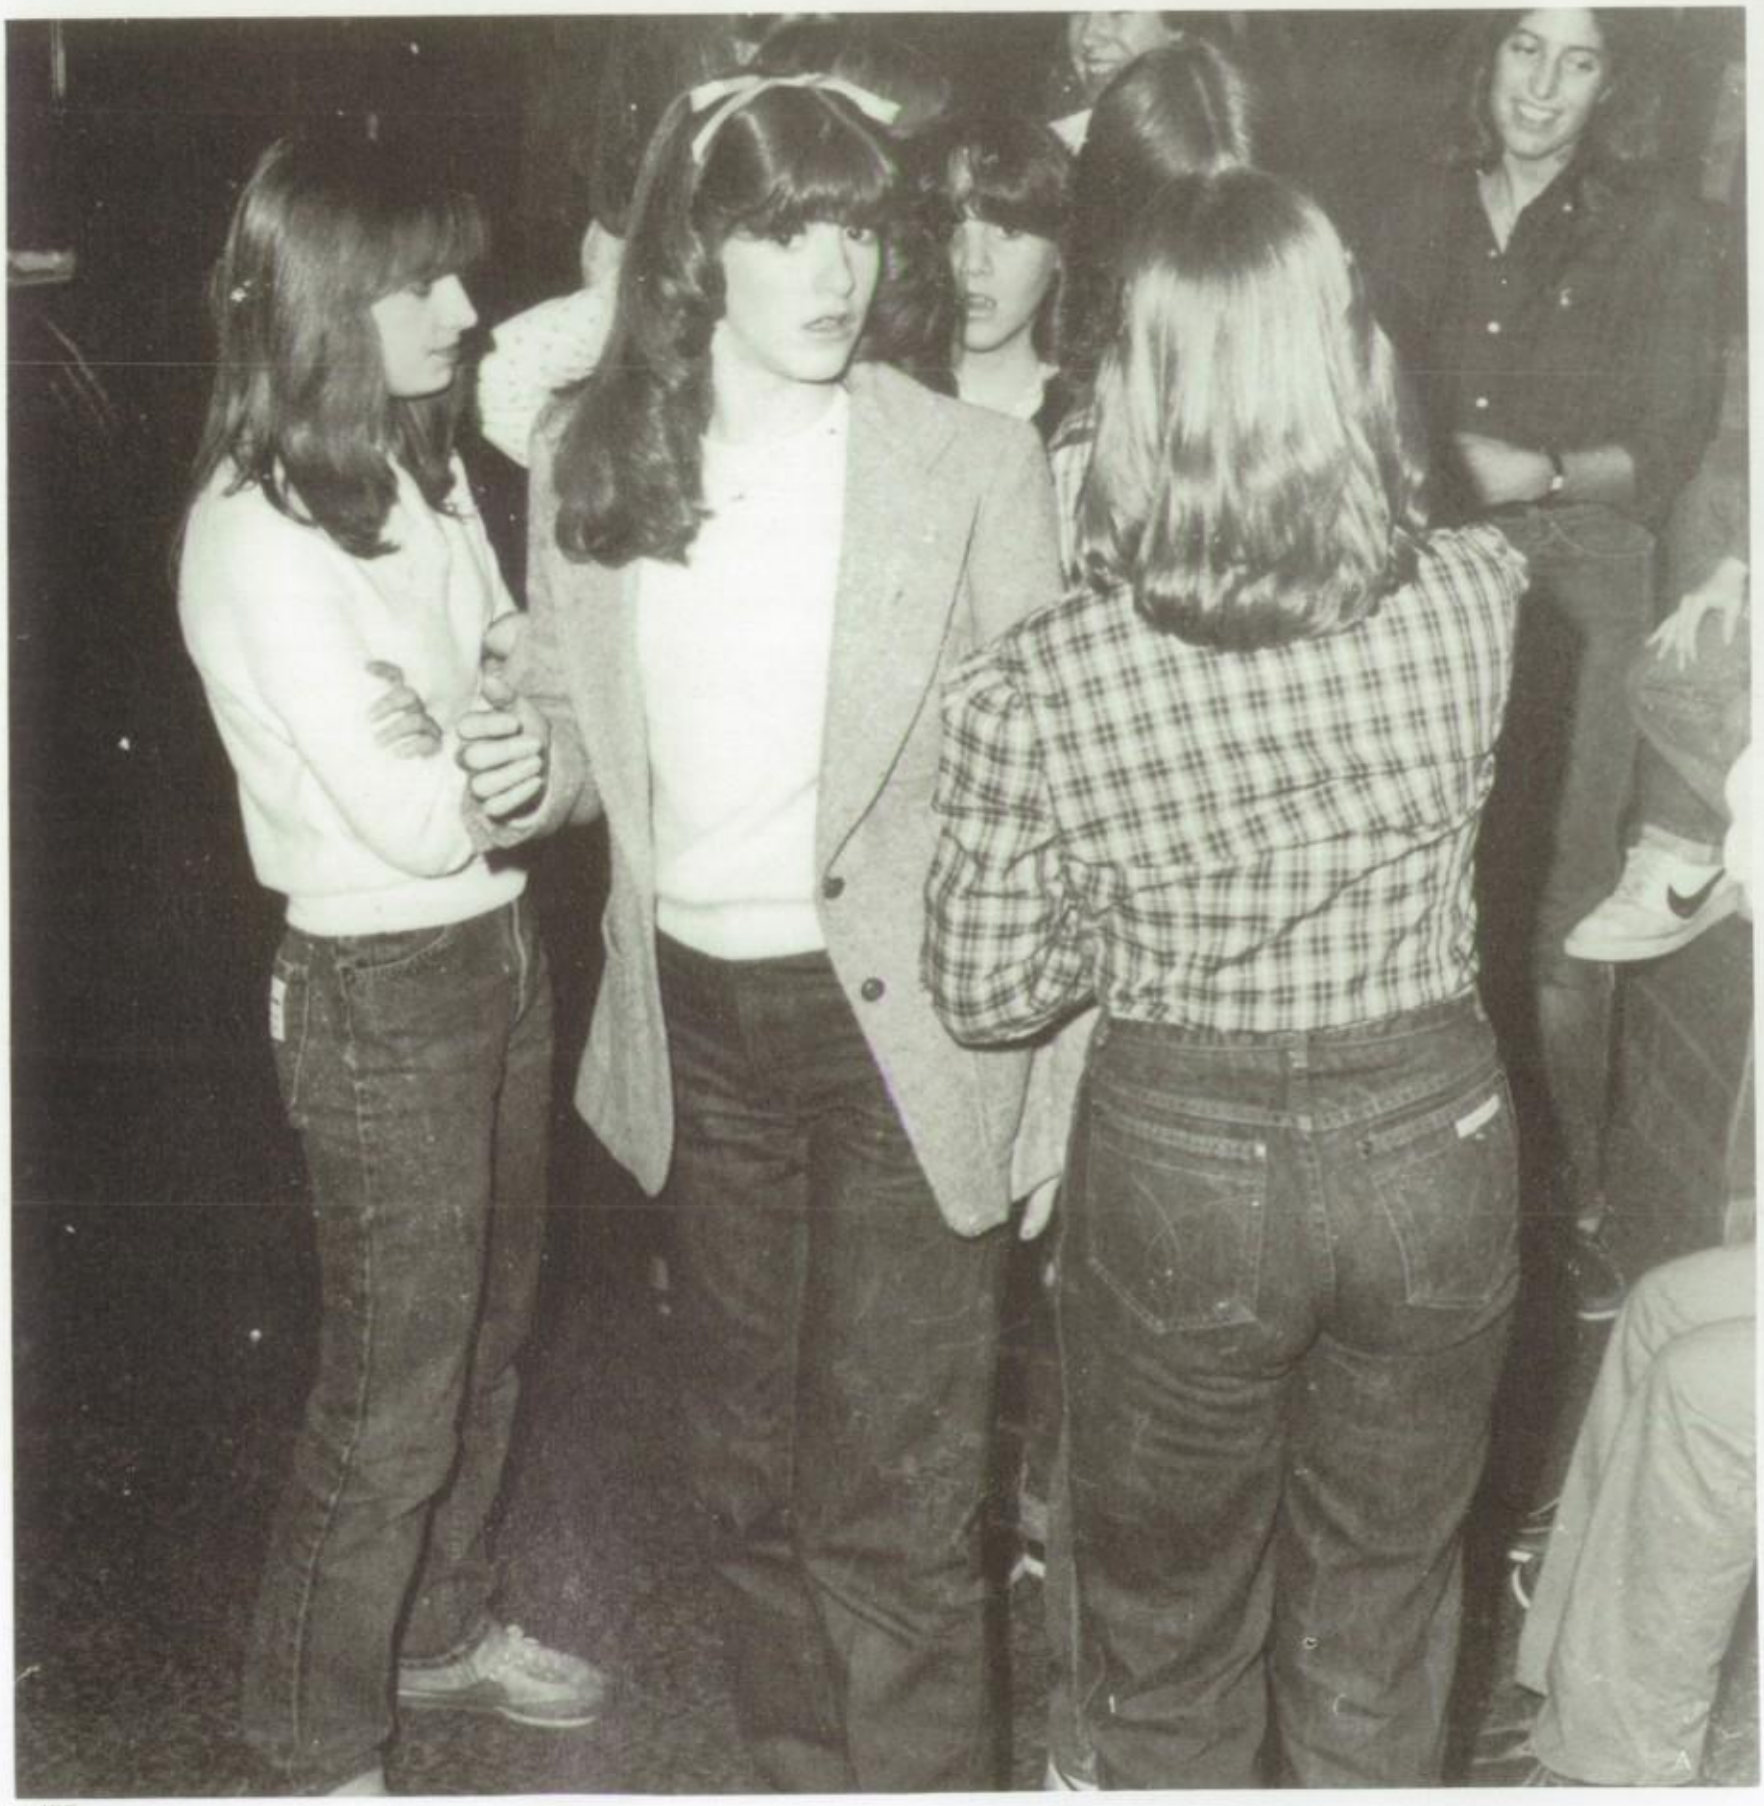
Students Enjoy The Many School-Sponsored Informal Dances

What was fun to do on a Friday night that was inexpensive? Southview's informal dances! Throughout the year, various clubs sponsored dances. The Back to School Dance provided a time for the students to get reacquainted with each other after a long summer vacation. For freshmen, the dance was their first taste of high school life.

On Nov. 17, DECA sponsored a dance that featured the band "Eternity" and students danced the night away. Steno I sponsored disc jockey Dave Blythe for an after basketball game dance on February 6. Pep Club also held their annual Fifties Day Dance. Couples arrived at the dance dressed fifties style and danced traditional dances from that era all night long.

On March 20, the Freshmen sponsored another entertaining dance.

Interesting things were always happening, from solo dances on stage to dancing chains in which everyone hooked on to someone else. The informal dances were enjoyed by those who attended them.



A) Freshmen Wendy White, Kim Dymond, and Leslie Geldine discuss the highlights of the basketball game.

B) Juniors converse together on the steps while watching the action on the dance floor.

C) Sophomores and Juniors gather around as Larry Braun kicks up his heels to the music of D.J. Dave Blythe.

D) Junior Greg Rochte dances with friends he hasn't seen all summer at the Back to School Dance.

Many Southview Students Find Dating To Be A Popular Pastime

Going out on a date is as American as going out to the ballpark for a ball game. But not everyone has the time, energy, or the nerve to go out on a date, and a lot of unanswered questions remain for the average high school student. In an attempt to iron out some of the falsehoods of this institution, here are some frequently asked questions about dating.

Why do people go out on dates? They are answering an instinct that dates back to the days when the first male ape saw the first female ape.

What does the average person need to go out on one? A member of the opposite sex helps. Someplace to go helps too, but in a pinch, your date's house will do just fine.

Is money important? Not always, but it helps also. A car would be nice, too, but it's not always necessary either.

What is important, then? Going out with someone who might or will talk to you. Communication between you and your date is so important. No one speaking can result in an awful date.

Is it really necessary for everyone to go out on dates? Not really. Some find that they can get along without it. Others would sooner die rather than be dateless.

Where is the best place to take a date? Lots of places — to a movie, or out to eat, for example. There are a lot of other places to go, too, but we won't go into that.

Why not? Because there are a lot of places where some people can't go to but do anyway (like bars, for example), and there are a lot of places that other people won't go to, like ice skating, or rollerskating, for example.

What do parents think about all of this? They think about the days when they used to go to the drive-ins, and they think "Whatever they're doing can't be that bad."

Do parents trust their children? Not if they come home late from their date with lipstick on their collar.

What's so bad about that? Next question, please.

What about blind dates? Blind dates are good for the person who likes to take chances. It can be a good time, or a disaster.

How has the automobile changed the average American's dating habits? About 100 years ago, America was still a country of wide open spaces. The auto freed the average person from just seeing the girl next door. Now he or she can look elsewhere — anyplace but down the street.

But what if the girl-next-door is the only thing that life has to offer? Then you will save lots of money on gasoline.

Back to money for a moment. What if you do not have a cent to your name, and you would like to take your date to a nice, quiet place that doesn't cost anything. Where do you go? Sounds like the library would be a good spot. But there are places that are inexpensive like basketball or football games. But they don't have a romantic atmosphere, do they?

What about school dances? Do they provide entertaining evenings? Homecomings, proms and semi-formal dances are popular places to go (But it is also a good place to lose a date as well). A problem with dances is by the time you have bought clothes, flowers, and dinner they can be very expensive.

Isn't it all worth it, if you've got a good date? Sure — otherwise, separate checks, please.

Is there any way that this can be summed up, to the effect that dating is almost an American institution, because it builds character and contributes to the high standards of society? Absolutely not.

C) Senior Steve Dolin, with his date Junior Halle Berk, are greeted by Heather Smith and Amy Schwab at last year's Junior Prom.

D) Junior Jim Gillespie and Sophomore Vicki Baughman share a moment before the camera at this year's Homecoming dance.

'God's Favorite' Annual Fall Play

The Southview commons was the setting for this year's fall play, "God's Favorite," performed on November 21, 22, and 23.

Hillview Elementary teacher Mr. Peter Hildebrandt directed the production. He was assisted by Senior Jenny Henes, student director, and a number of other students who helped out on the technical aspects of the show.

Eight students performed in last fall's play, which centered around the story of Job from the Bible. They were: Scott Arnoff, Mike Brockhoff, Andy Gersten, Missy Keenan, Tim Kime, Suzie Raymond, Liz Schoettley, and Michelle Winslow.

A) Junior Andy Gersten, as a messenger of God, dramatizes his part.

B) The maids of the afflicted household, Liz Schoettley, and Michelle Winslow, vow to maintain their loyalty to the family.

C) Mike Brockhoff demonstrates realism as the central character.

D) Senior Mike Brockhoff, as "God's Favorite", belittles Senior Tim Kime, his drunkard son.

Juniors Travel 'Road To Utopia' At Annual Junior Dance

Last year's annual Junior Prom was replaced with a semi-formal dance. The dance, whose theme was "Road to Utopia", was held on April 19 in the Southview commons from 8 p.m. until midnight. The commons area was decorated with lush palm trees, a grass shack, and upon entering, couples were greeted with leis and kisses by lovely Hawaiian girls.

At 10 p.m., Sue Seitz was crowned Junior Prom Queen by last year's queen, Diane Scribner.

The rest of the court consisted of Sandy Hernandez, Renee Russeau, Robin Sosbe, and Connie Werner. After the crowning, the girls and their escorts danced the Spotlight Dance to the music of the "Majyk" band.

A) Sue McGinley watches Michelle Conley and Chris Gajewicz as they dance to the music of "Majyk."

B) Greg Willhauck, Alice Heidtman, Doug Tabner and Heather Loud rest at their table after some strenuous dancing.

Monday vs. Friday

Everyone's week begins with a Monday. At Sylvania Southview, it hit a little harder. As one walked down the halls, he frequently saw fellow students in a dazed, zombie-like state. If he went into the library, he would have most likely seen persons in the orange chairs, oblivious to the world and sleeping peacefully. He might also have seen a person with his head buried in his arms, snoozing.

Of course, everyone's week also ended with a Friday. And again, at Southview it hit the students a little harder. People realized that there was no homework to be finished right away and tended to have a complete disregard for their books. They tossed them off of tables and threw them into the air. Students clutched each other jubilantly, and jumped and leaped with ease. People didn't seem to have a care in the world.

These activities were a never-ending cycle. Everyone's week will always begin with a Monday and end with a Friday. And at Sylvania Southview, it will always hit a little harder . . .

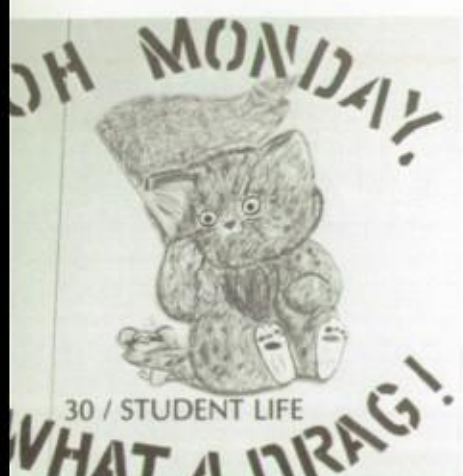
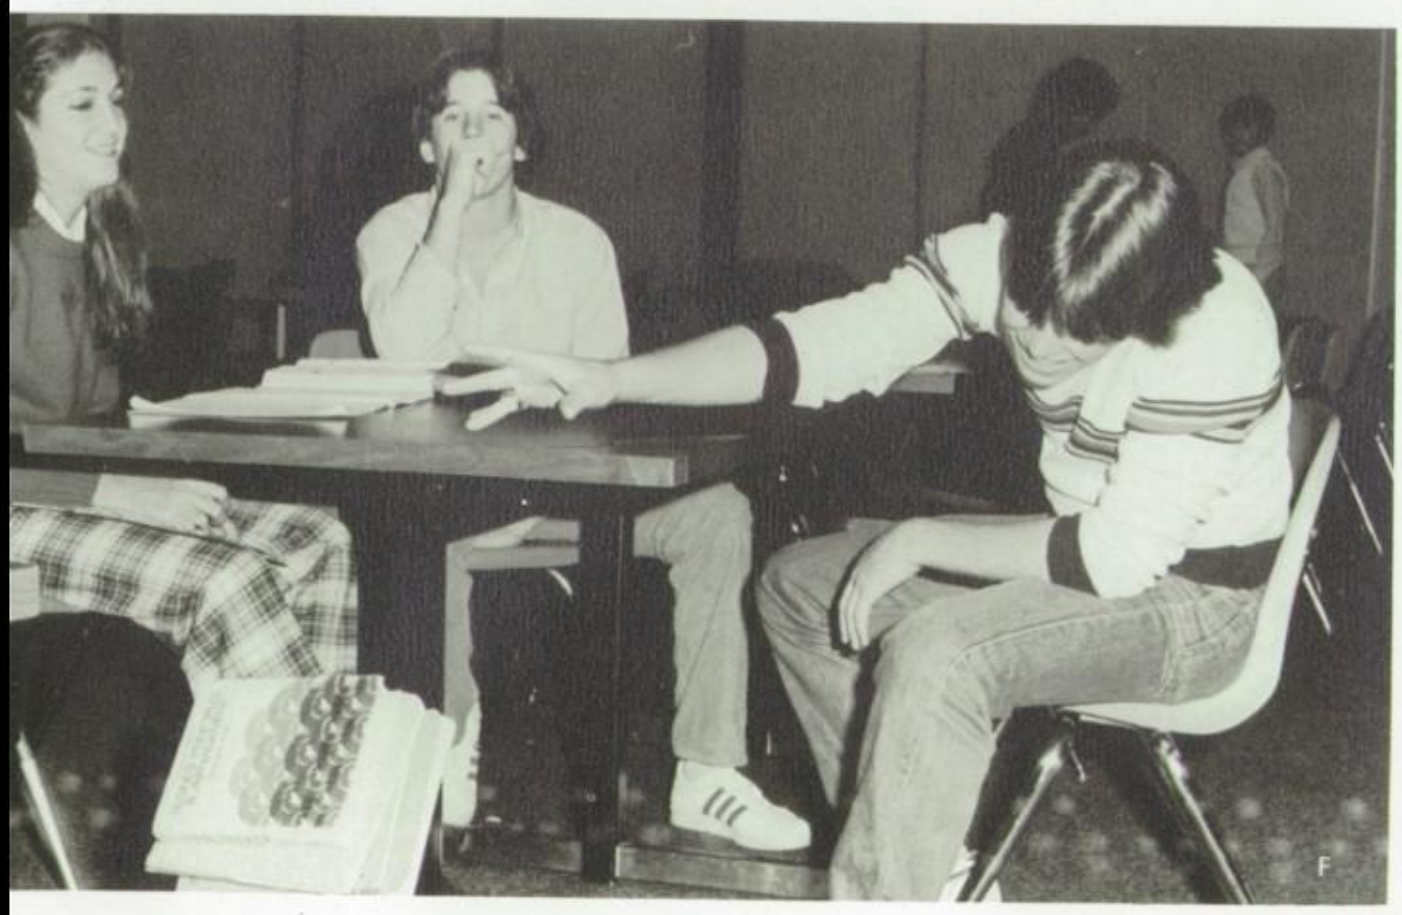
B



D) Juniors Greg Rochte and Chuck Radin jubilantly embrace as they anticipate Friday.

F) Senior Bob Dazel tosses his books into the air because that longed for Friday has finally made it appearance.

E) Junior Ron Erd gets into the Friday morning excitement earlier than his curious onlookers.



G) Senior Kraig Keplinger is more than willing to get rid of his books. After all, who does homework on weekends?

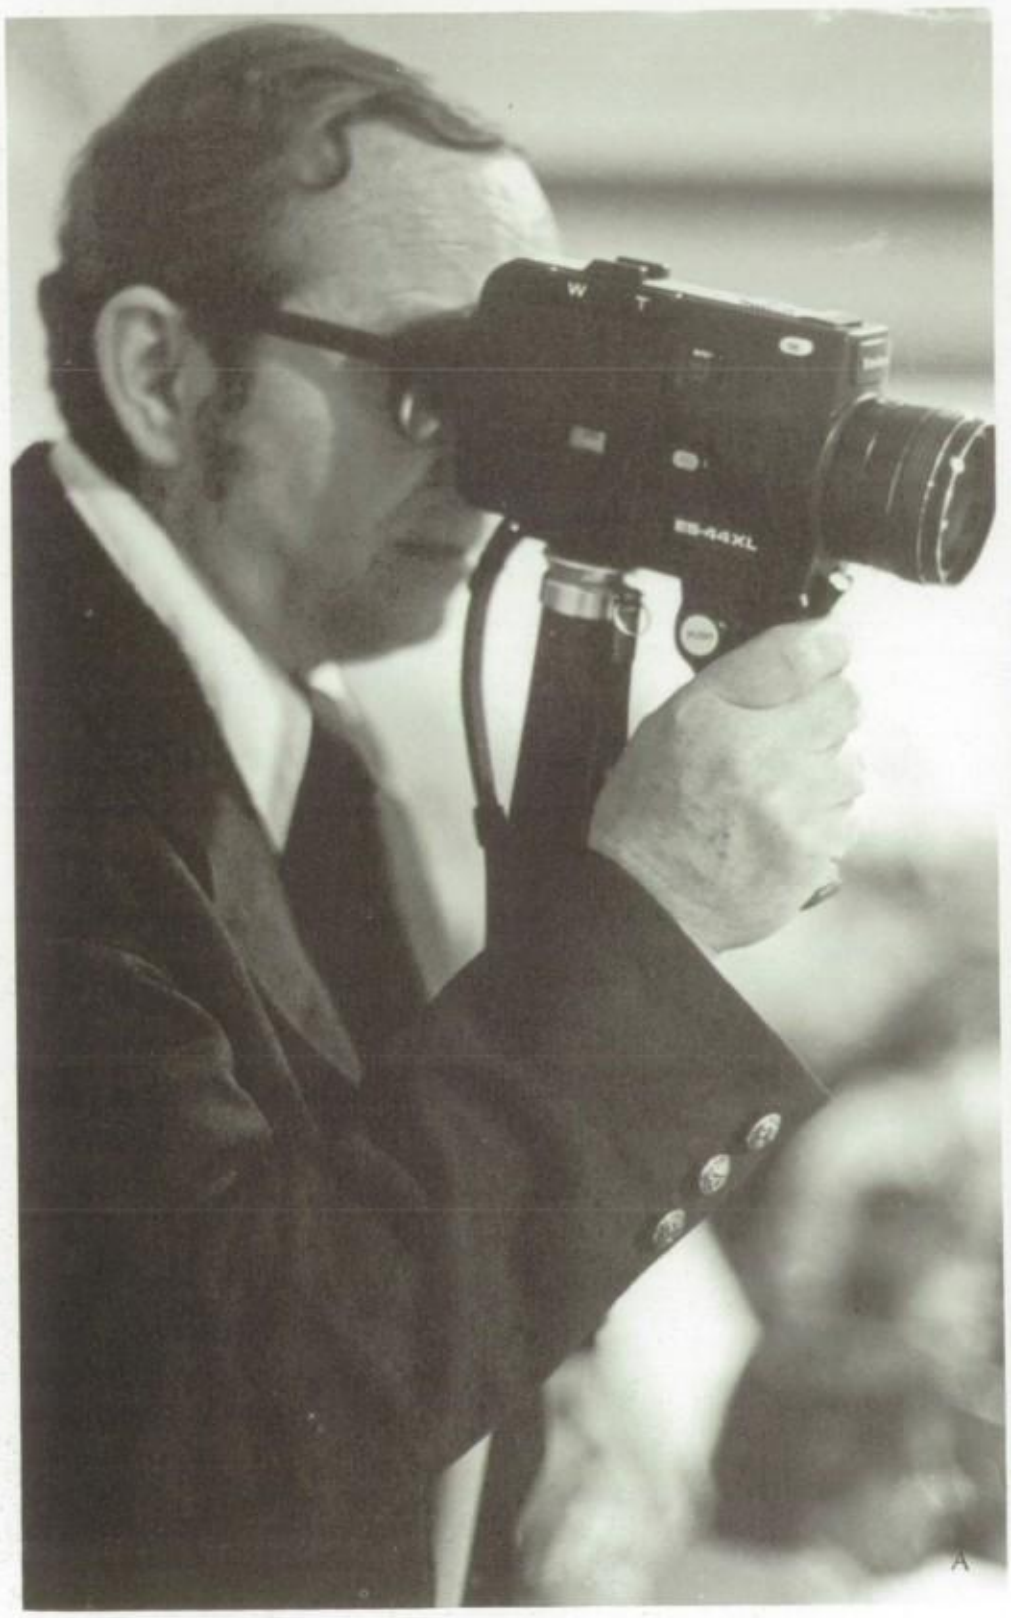
Fans Of All Ages Support And Encourage Southview Teams

There are many people who supported Southview's athletic events in a number of different ways.

Many parents helped Southview's athletic programs as members of the Southview Cougar Club. The Cougar Club sponsored different activities, such as dances, raffles, and rummage sales, to raise money for Southview teams. Individual contributions also made up a share of the money donated. Some parents worked in concession stands or sold programs at the basketball and football games to raise money. Other parents took us to and picked us up from practices and fixed us dinner when practice ended late.

Many people showed their support by attending school athletic events on a regualr basis, which is the most encouragement that any real supporter of Southview athletics can give.

Everyone at Southview; the athletes, the band, and all of the students; benefited from the time these people devoted. Their help and support was greatly appreciated and was an important part in making the school work.

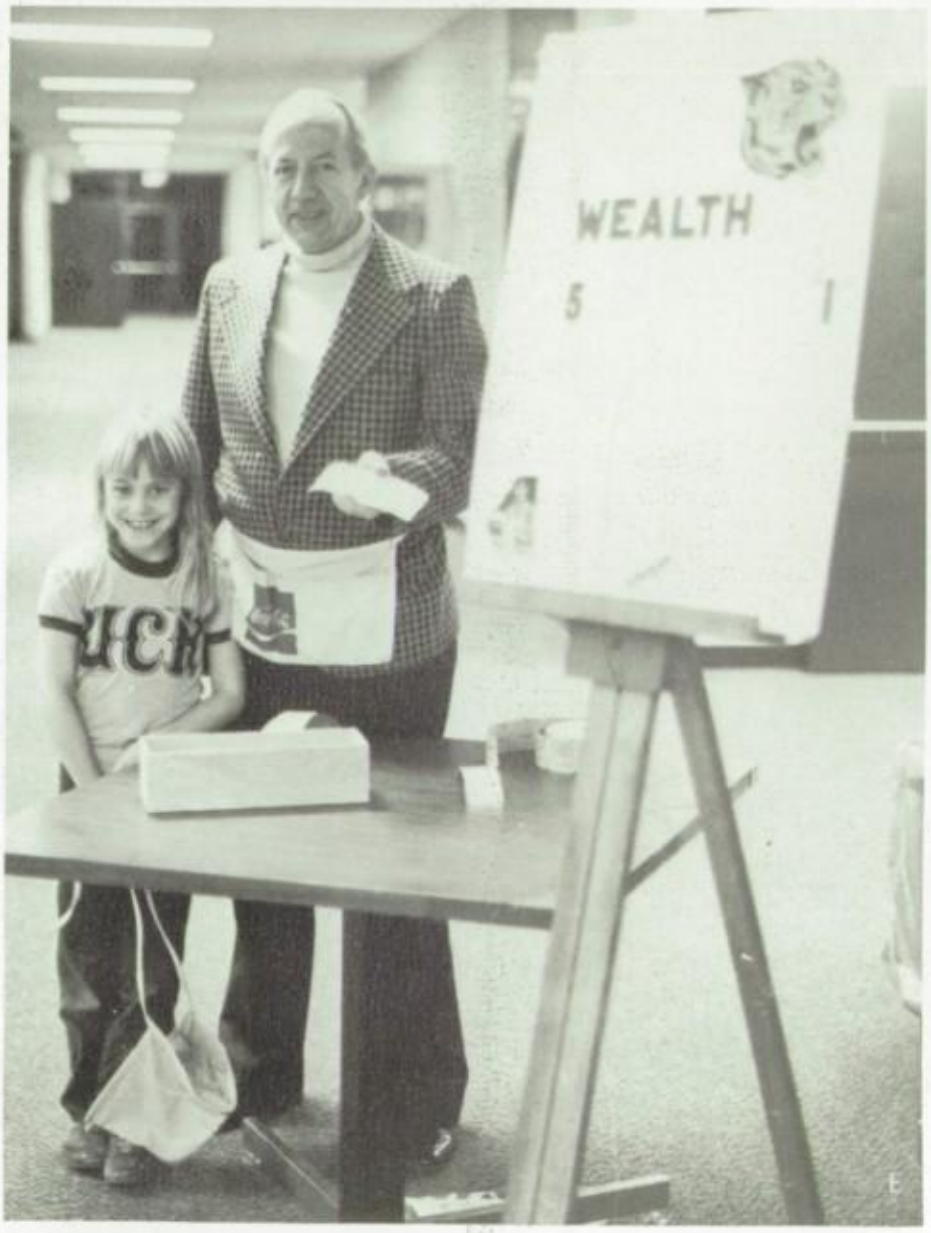


A) Mr. William Kidney films a basketball game for Southview.

B) Mrs. Francie Russeau helps by working at the concession stand during a basketball game.

C) Loyal fans support the Cougar football team on a bitter October evening.

D) Southview fans intently watch a key play during the Southview vs. Bowling Green basketball game.



E) Dr. Milo Danzeisen sells raffle tickets to raise money for the Southview Cougar Club.

F) Mr. Mike Kasprzak sells basketball programs to Cougar fans.

Foreign Exchange Students Prove That It's A Small World

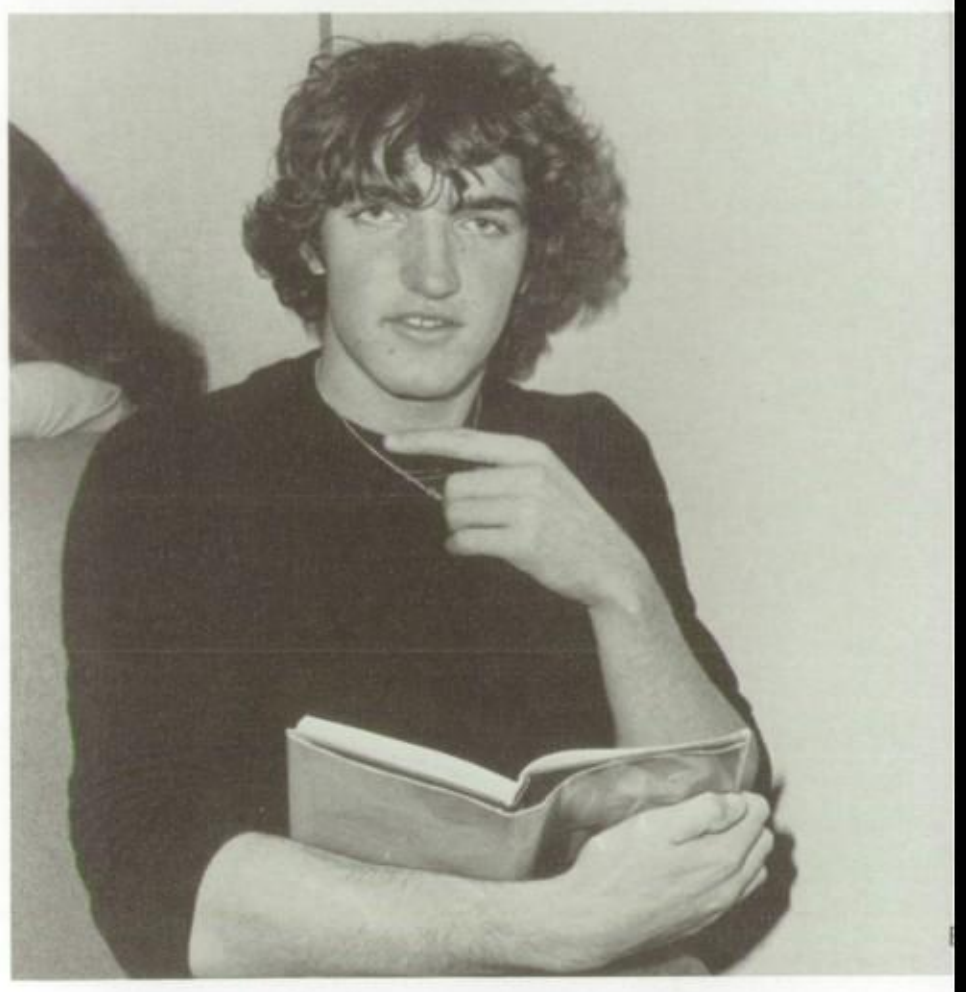
Exchange students are not new to Sylvania Southview. This year, three different organizations brought seven students from different parts of the world to Southview's front door.

A new foreign exchange organization, Pacific International Exchange, introduced us to two students — Cornelius Zschunke, from West Germany, and Aki Nomura. Aki said that the only complaint she had was that school in the United States began so early in the morning as compared to her school in Omiya, Japan, outside of Tokyo.

The American Field Services group, led by adviser Mrs. Dorothy Parker, welcomed three students — Fernando Dillenberg, from Brazil, Roland Reichenbach, from Switzerland, and Ayumu Taguchi, also from Japan. Dillenberg left earlier in the year, however.

Another new Organization, Youth for Understanding, assisted Magnus Floden in coming to America from his native land of Sweden. Magnus said that while he had his dislikes about Southview, basically, "it's a nice school."

For the first time, a foreign exchange student traveled independently to America and Southview with no sponsoring association or assistance. Monica Novra made her own arrangements to visit and live in America.



A) Aki Nomura sits in the library collecting her thoughts.

Students Surveyed On Different Topics

Late in January of this year, the yearbook staff distributed surveys containing questions of various topics to all third period classes and to students who were in the library or commons. An effort was made to poll every student in the school, but only 790 questionnaires were returned. These two pages list the results of that survey.

Pep Assemblies Rouse Spirit And School Loyalty

Some Cougar fans believed that going to a football, basketball, or other athletic event would not be the same without a Friday assembly to rouse their spirit.

Pep assemblies did more than raise enthusiasm for just the football and basketball games; there were many other sports to be recognized — freshmen teams, volleyball, swimming, golf, and tennis teams just to name a few.

Those assemblies with skits, spirit contest, the spirit keg, and cheers fulfilled their purpose.

The Southview student body united all classes as one, to encourage and support the Southview teams, regardless of class distinction.

Not to be forgotten were the band, the cheerleaders, and everyone else who made pep assemblies an important part of all of the Southview teams.

Many Students Dedicate Long Hours After School

When that final bell rang at 2:25, not everyone was on their way home. Many Southview students were dedicating themselves to long hours of practice to make themselves and Southview the best that they could be. Some students dressed themselves in sweatshirts to jog mile upon mile in preparation for that big meet, some spent hours dribbling the basketball for that all-important game, others went to Northview twice a day to work out at the pool. Gymnasts tumbled and balanced on the balance beam, and football players devoted countless hours of strenuous activity to practice in football scrimmages. Spanish Club members sat at desks in room 120 at various meetings during the year. National Honor Society members frequently met to get ready for the annual carnation sale.

Practices for the CougaReview went on and on, and some girls suffered contusions during Powderpuff practices. Pep Club members painted posters to promote spirit, and quiz bowl members answered questions in preparation for competition. All of these countless hours of practice strove for one thing — working to make Southview proud of itself and to bring satisfaction to individuals as well, making Southview the best school that it could possibly be.

A) Pep Club officers discuss ideas for the annual Fifties Day Dance.

B) Mrs. Dorothy Parker conducts an AFS meeting.

C) Junior Andrea Benjamin explains the formations of the Junior disco dance for the CougaReview.

H) Junior Shelly Duvall and Sophomore Rex Wismar practice a trombone duet for the Winter Band Concert.

No Matter What The Fad, SV Students Display It Well

Nothing seems to spread as quickly through a school as a fad. This year, the "preppy" look made it's debut at Southview. Blazers, plaid pants, penny loafers, argyle vests, button down oxfords, monogrammed sweaters, Izod shirts, and designer jeans with dock-siders a-plenty (just to name a few) seemed to be among the choices of many a Southview student's wearing apparel.

Of course, not everyone followed the preppy route. Some students opted for the comfortable life and "borrowed" surgeon's scrub shirts from nearby hospitals. Others preferred the western look; cowboy boots peeked out of jeans and some even set off skirts. Fringed coats and checkered shirts and cowboy hats ran rampant.

Whatever the fashion, Southview students expressed themselves well.

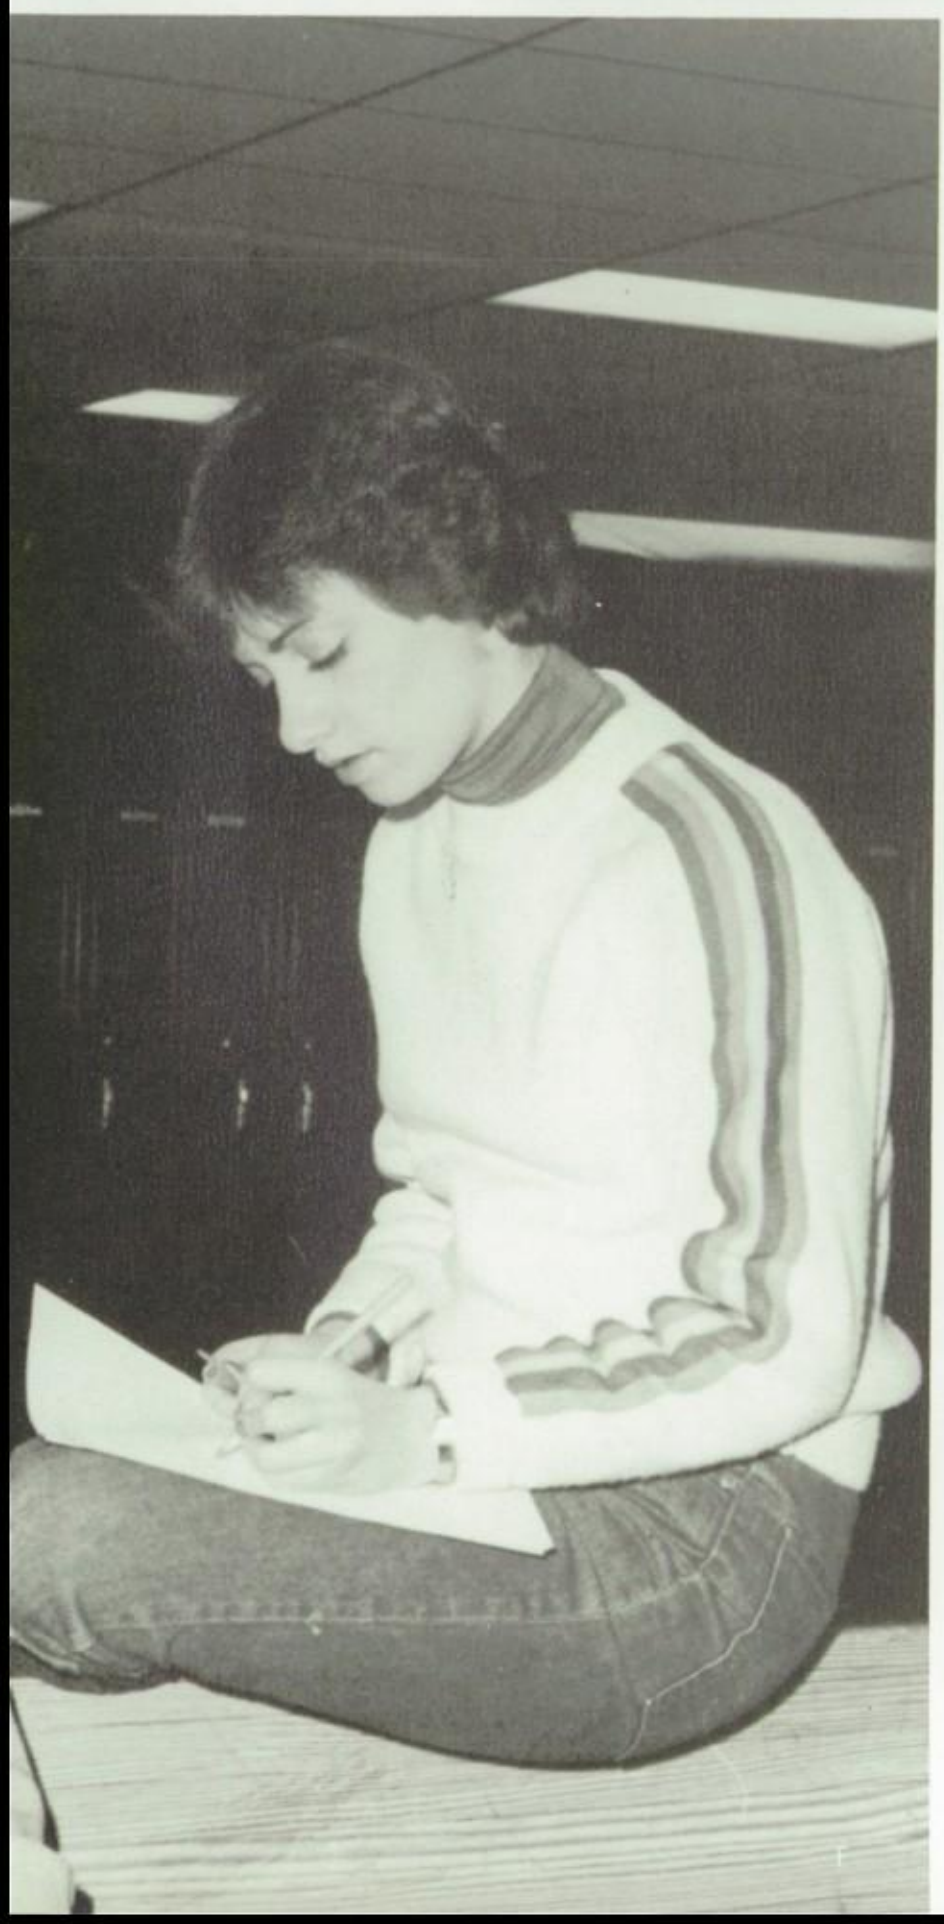
G) Sophomore Jennifer Stevens, clad in a turtleneck and sweater, gazes off into space while sophomore Ruth Mellin, wearing overalls, laughs at a joke with Kathy Clark.



H) Sophomore Mary Somogye, outfitted in the highly popular kilt and kneesocks, smiles with Senior Tim Kime as they listen to a joke.

Students Display Support And Spirit For School During Spirit Week

This year's annual Spirit Week was held the week of January 26-30. Every day the students were asked to show support for their teams. Monday was t-shirt and hat day, Tuesday was Western day. Wednesday was dress up day, and many spirited students wore formal dresses or three piece suits. Thursday was "Almost Anything Goes" day; students wore everything from pajamas to parachute suits. Friday wound up the week with the traditional orange and brown day. The annual Spirit Week assembly was held on Friday, also. The Seniors won the spirit chain, and Junior John Crowner won the Jello eating-frontward-contest-and-backwards-flip race during the assembly. With the exception of the Boys' Varsity Basketball Team, every SV team and club, from the extra support given them by Spirit Week, won their weekend competitions.

A) Seniors Leslie Brown and LeeAnn Van Gunten take their turns at tending the Cookie Carnival Booth sponsored by Pep Club.

B) Junior John Crowner displays his speedy Jello eating techniques.

Southview People Captured For Posterity

What best describes the Southview student body? Actually, there are no words to fully characterize it. Therefore, Southview, we caught you in pictures when you least expected it, when you were being you. We caught you happy. We caught you in your craziest moments. We caught you being impudent, cocky, and sassy for our cameras — and now you must face the consequences. You have been captured for posterity — imprisoned forever in pictures.

And now we present you, Southview; The REAL you . . .

Weekends were the long awaited and well deserved break from a hard week at school. For many, they were just a form of relaxation and an excuse for sleeping in. For others, it meant work; a large percentage of students had part time jobs which demanded their attention on Saturdays and Sundays. The last minute procrastinators used weekends as refuges to get papers, reports, and other projects completed. But for the most part, weekends were synonomous with excitement. Many in-school and out-of-school activities were attended. Numerous students went to football, basketball, and hockey games and other sporting events. On certain evenings, discoers, rockers, and punkers displayed their dancing abilities at informal dances.

There were also plenty of late night pizzas and McDonalds. At pizza, electronic games, such as space invaders, drew large crowds. Movies, although expensive, still had a booming attendance. On the cold winter nights, sledding and skiing were popular with many students. Southview students also dominated the Tam O' Shanter Ice Rink on Friday nights for open skate. For late nighters, Saturday night meant "Rocky Horror Picture Show." Parties were a favorite of many, encouraging social interaction and a chance of something different to do.

All in all, it was clear that weekends were a welcomed break and should have been enjoyed by everyone.

NV-SV Rivalry Elevates Spirit

It has been five years since Sylvania High School became Northview and a new, brown building along Sylvania Avenue became Southview.

At first, Northview and Southview did not compete against one another in sports — many Sylvanians worried about the potentially hostile atmosphere that might arise from such a confrontation between these two schools.

But today, Northview and Southview meet in sports ranging from football to hockey to any other sport you can name. And the hostile atmosphere that worried citizens five years ago has turned more into a friendly rivalry.

The biggest event of the Northview-Southview rivalry is the football game, which was held this year in August for the first time. Not to be forgotten is the basketball game during the winter, in which both schools see how many people they can pack into one gym.

So the rivalry between Northview and Southview is not a hostile one, but a friendly one. But everyone from Southview knows which of the two high schools is the better one.

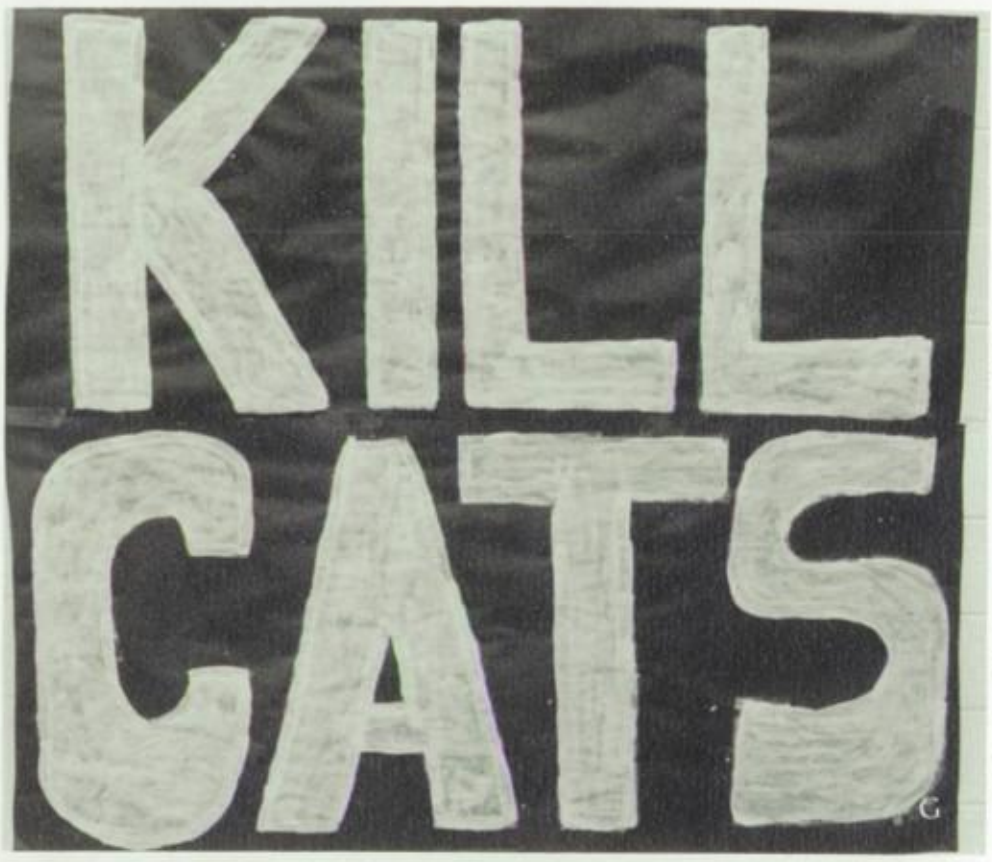
C) Southview students cheer on the Cougars during the Northview-Southview basketball game.

D) Southview hockey players hug each other, rejoicing after a goal has been scored against Northview.

E) Cat Stadium is the home of both the Northview Wildcats and the Southview Cougars.

F) Southview students show spirit throughout the year by painting the spirit rock.



G) Pep Club is responsible for painting the spirit posters like this one for the gym.

H) Senior Leslie Brown and Sophomore Julie Hall look on with Northview players as a foul shot is thrown.

I) Sophomores Don Crawford and Mike Walters talk to a Northview student during the NV-SV basketball game.

The Thrill Of Victory And The Agony Of Defeat...

Life has its series of ups and downs, and Southview, of course had its share. Remember the Northview vs. Southview basketball game? As the week grew older, we became more and more elated with victory. The freshman and J.V. teams won, but then we truly learned the meaning of the Agony of Defeat, as the Boys' Varsity team lost the game in overtime. During the Powderpuff game, the Senior girls glorified in their win, as the juniors felt despair. Some of us felt victory, by far the sweetest emotion, in passing a major test, while some of us ground our teeth together. Some students made that all important conquest in the dating scene,and others kept on looking. Athletes strove to surpass that final hurdle, while some just could not make it. Sometimes we cheered our teams on to victory and sometimes we bit our fingernails while stitting anxiously in the stands. Sometimes everything went right and sometimes it just was not our day. Though at times we struggled and met defeat, here is to our ultimate victory.

A) Steve Gimre buries his head in his hands as the swim team falls further and further behind the opposing team.

B) The Southview Boys' Basketball Team walks dejectedly off the court as the Northview team rejoices in their victory.

C) Senior LeeAnn Van Gunten pins a boutonniere on Sophomore Arkady Kagan.

F) Senior Lisa Kasprzak looks on with resignation as the thought of her team's win slips away.

D) Standing on the side lines, the J.V. Cheerleaders anticipate the outcome of the game.

E) The Gymnastics team members ecstatically congratulate one another on a close win.

G) Senior Patty Pietrick bites her nails as her score was lower than she had hoped for.

F

A) Congratulations! You have just entered the wild and wonderful world of Southview High School!

B) Freshman Orientation — your first taste of high school life. You get lost; miss one turn.

C) Your first day of school — you are set loose with the upperclassmen! Hide from them and miss two turns.

D) Meet your Big Sis and go to the game together in a car caravan — move ahead two.

E) The first pep assembly of the year. "What's a Freshman?" Go back to start.

F) The football team makes an astounding win; now wait one turn for mom to pick you up.

G) Homecoming — your first formal dance. Your sister does not want to drive you home, so she tries to ditch you. Miss two turns while you call home.

H) June 12; you passed your first exams and have to take no more health. You are a Super Soph; spin again.

I) As a Soph, you have become one of the elite many permitted to pick on Frosh. Move ahead two.

J) Oh boy, how exciting (and expensive); order your class ring!

K) Take the C.A.T. Test, get out of English. Also skip one turn.

L) You're 16! You think you are cool and dangle your keys in front of everyone. Run an errand for mom and miss a turn.

P) Wow! A real Upperclassman! Move to the other side of the gym and spin again.

Q) Take the PSAT and suddenly become an advocate of doing away with standardized tests; go back two.

R) Powderpuff! You think the juniors will win, but of course you are wrong. Go back three due to your silly misconception.

S) Class ranks come out and you are suddenly jolted into the realization that a college chooses you and not vice versa. Miss one turn.

T) Uh oh, it's time to take the SAT and ACT. Get your scores back and decide to take them a few more times. Miss a turn.

U) Brighten up! Something to look forward to: the Junior Dance. Spin again.

V) You passed! Can you believe that only one more year, and . . .

W) Begin your reign as the Supreme Seniors. Start by getting your senior pics taken and turning "legal" 18!

X) The seniors win Powderpuff (of course!) and you attend your last Homecoming. Also choose the Senior Court. Spin again.

Y) Decisions, decisions: where to go? Send out those college applications and skip one turn Z) It's January and you take your last exams (or Graduate early). Only four more months!

AA) The Senior Show — get involved in the CougaReview. Give up a lot of time, but it's worth it. Spin again.

BB) Sping Break — for some, it's Florida Bound! Think up some great senior pranks and move ahead one.

CC) Senior Prom and Cedar Point: Are they what they were cracked up to be?!

DD) Graduation — Life begins!

M) Now that you can drive, the turnabout dance sounds like a worthwhile risk. Ask that person and take an extra turn.

O) Gym is over (aren't you glad) and it's time to decide in what direction to gear your classes. Since you passed, spin again.

N) Uh oh, looks like the teachers are rubbing their hands with glee; term paper time! Miss three turns for doing it all the night before.

What's A Freshman?

The Freshman is a newcomer to the school, with dreams to live and ambitions to fill.

The Freshman's day was a busy one. Their schedules were filled with a majority of required classes which included science, math, health, physical education, and English. Elective classes including foreign languages, industrial arts, and music were also available to the freshmen. The Freshman's year was the beginning of new experiences filled with new friends and new surroundings. Memories were created that will be remembered throughout their high school years.

C) Eric Papcun, Tammy Walters, and Tracy Doughten fight boredom during a health lecture.

A) John Le Beau concentrates on taking complete notes in his World Conflicts course.

B) Students in third period gym class practice thier forearm.

D) Jennifer Chambers consults with fellow students on an English 9 assignment.

E) Melissa Millington is intrigued by the new facts she is learning in health class.

A) Rhonda Vincent displays foot faults during a match in her physical education class.

B) Jo Ann Cautin expresses her views to fellow students in her English 9 class.

Frosh...

C) Blake Parquette and Scott Frank cannot believe their eyes in art class.

D) Julie Kellogg, Rochelle Goldstein, and Sean Gillespie work together in Freshmen Physical Science.

E) Jim Eckstrom gets extra help from Mr. Craig DeCrane in Freshmen Physical Science.

Sophs Advance A Year In School

As the Sophomore's advanced a year in high school, their days were filled with many more classes and activities. As the only required classes were English and physical education, many sophomores filled their schedules with other electives such as science, math, social studies, and foreign language classes.

Biology was the most popular science-related course chosen among sophomores; in this class students studied the functions of organisms.

Some of the social studies courses which were offered to the students were "Cities, Crises, and Crime," "World Conflicts," and "Exploring Values."

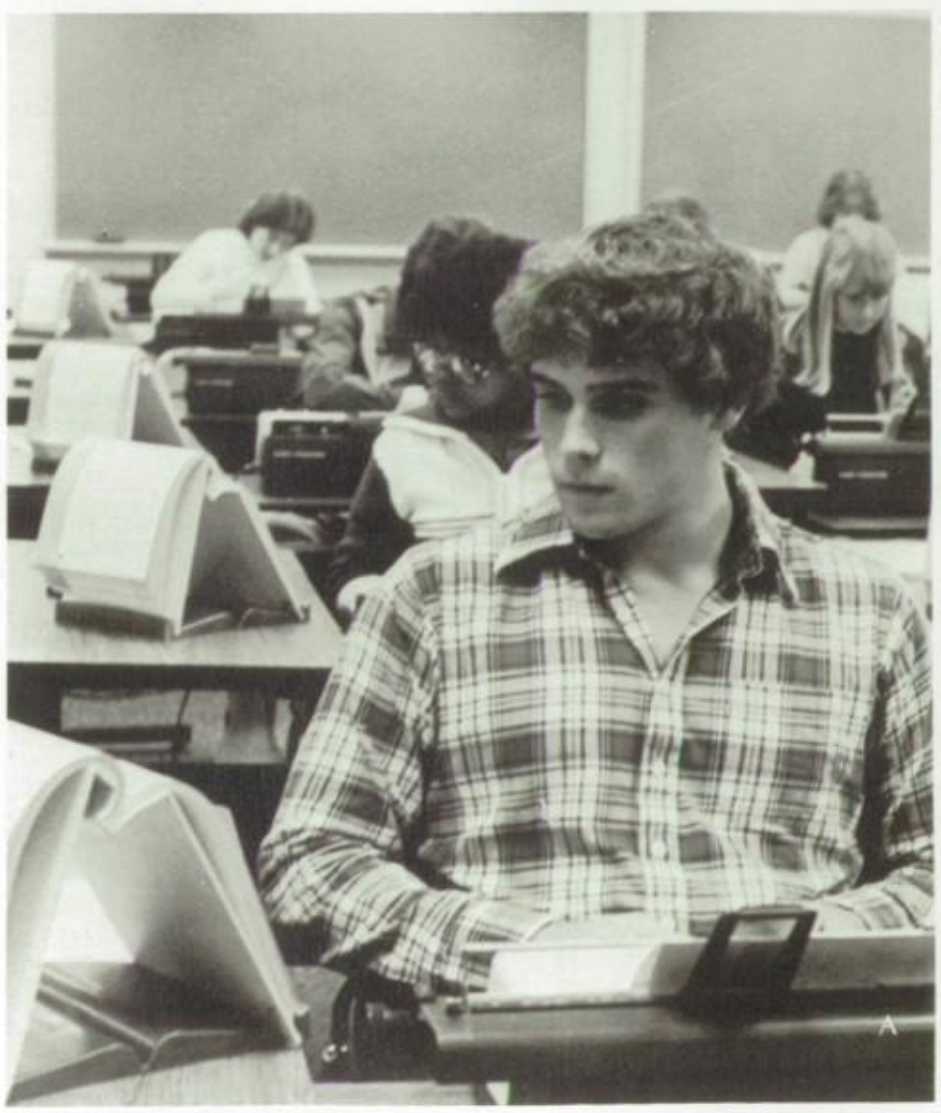
Many students chose to continue their education in a foreign language. Their options included Latin, German, Spanish, and French.

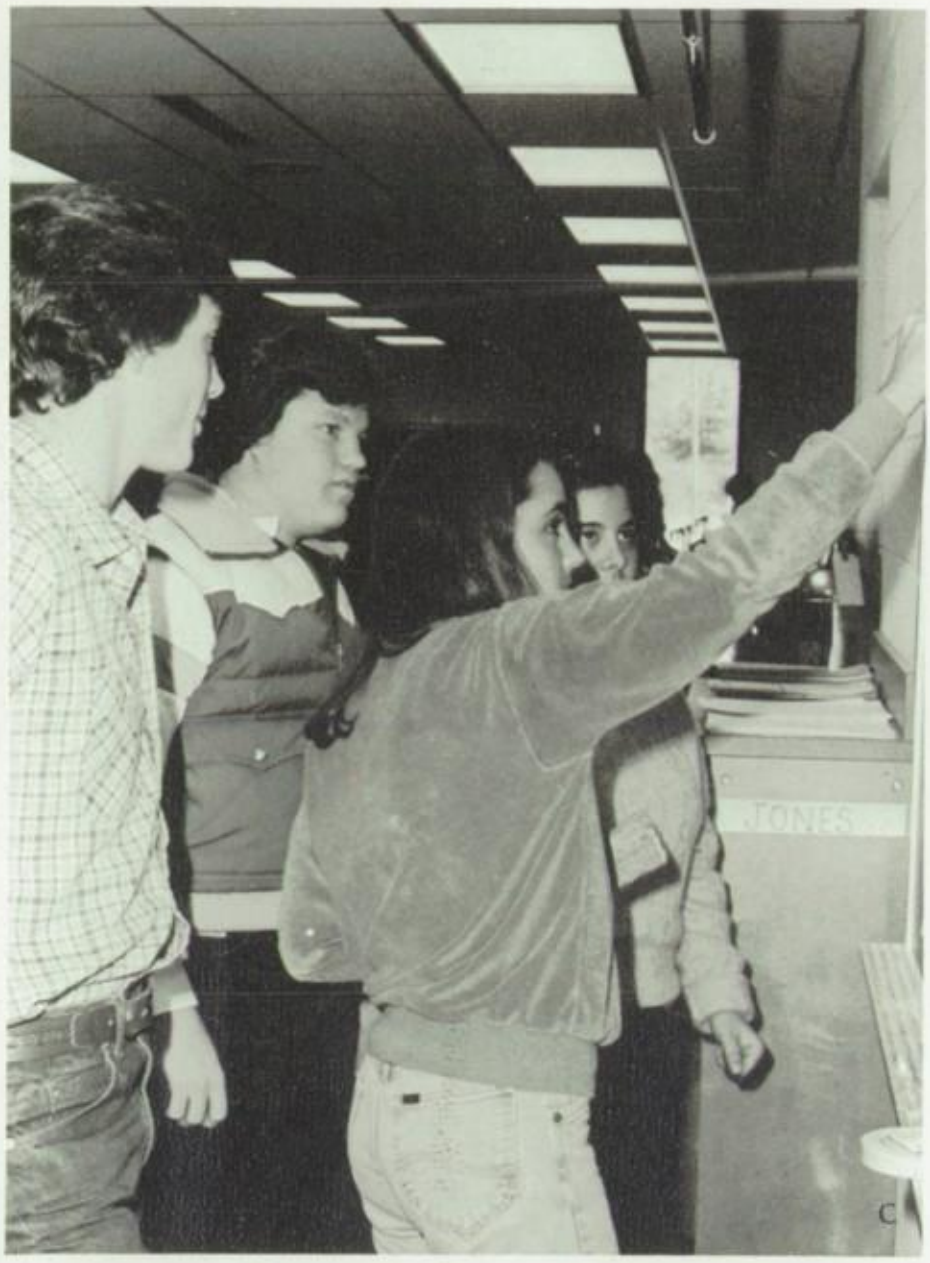
Algebra and Geometry were classes which were often chosen by sophomores to meet their minimum academic requirements in math.

As a result, sophomores found their second year in high school to be academically challenging and filled with sports and extracurricular activities.

B) Teresa Clark and Amy Sterling work hard to make their experiment a success.

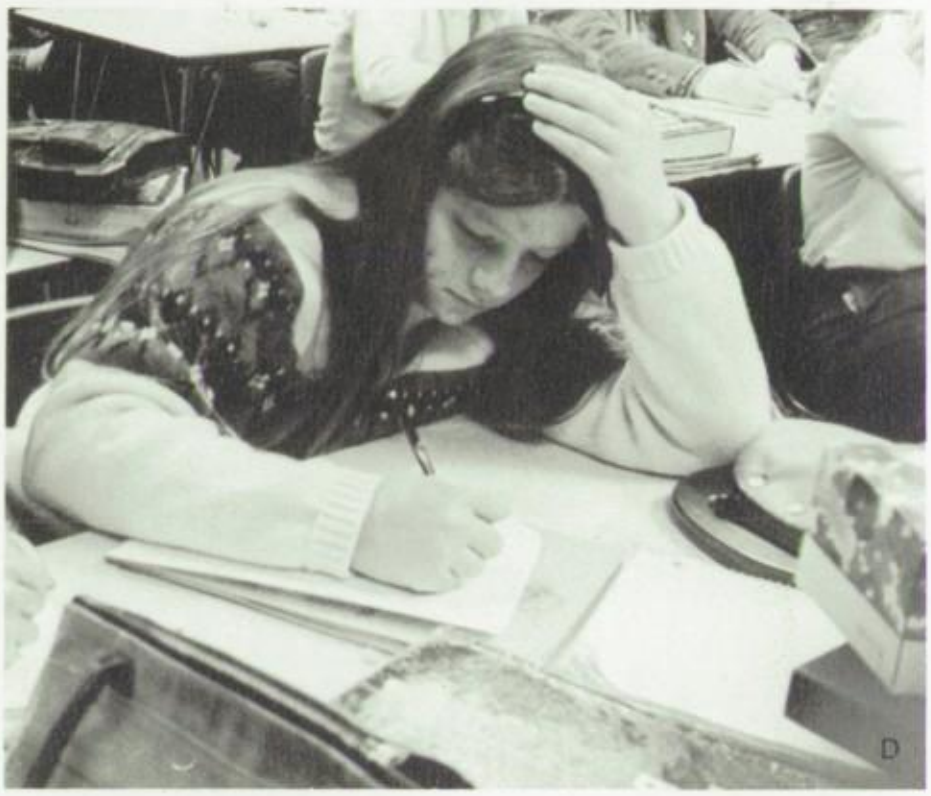
A) Doug Roll puts total concentration into his typing assignment.

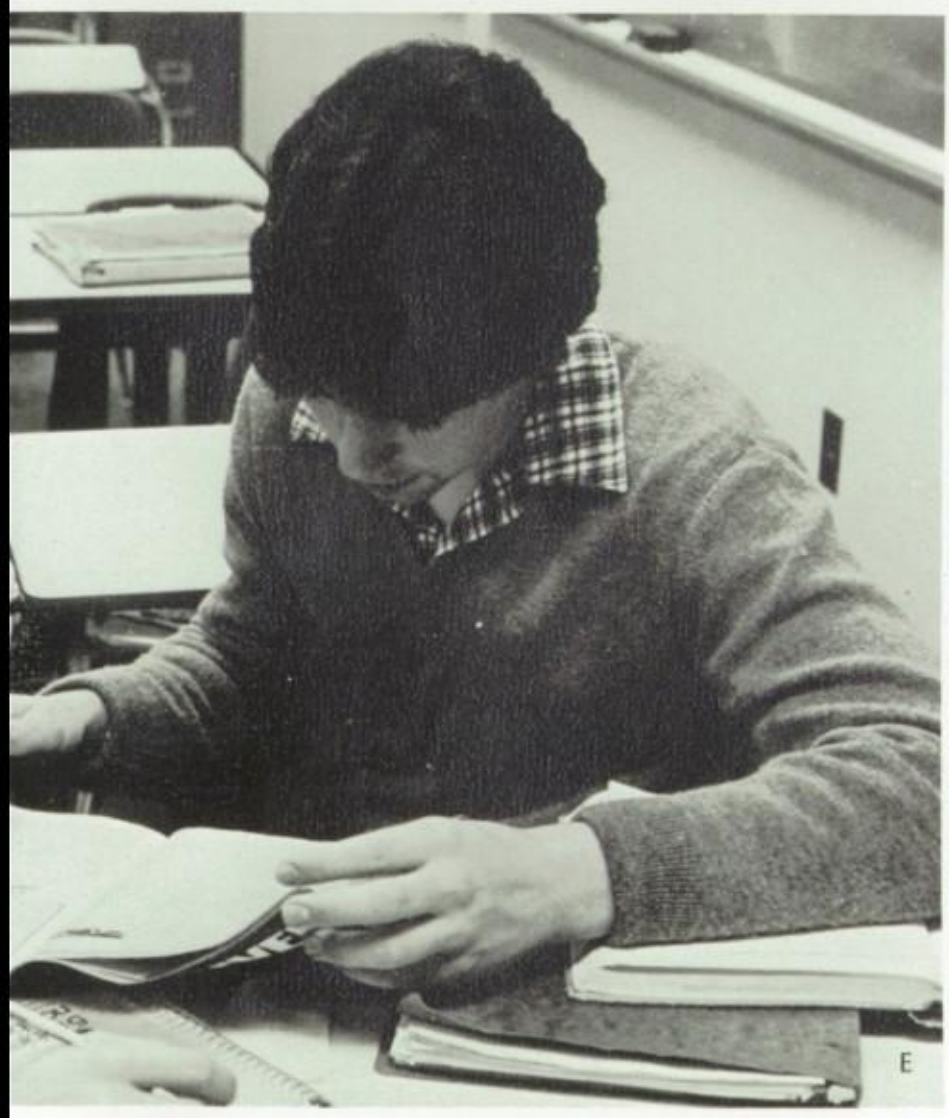




C) Biology I students pool their knowledge to answer a question at the board.

D) Julie Njaim works on her biology assignment.





E) Two boys enjoy looking at a magazine to take up extra time.

A) Kay Oravecz smiles at the thought of the day's lesson.

B) Michelle Graney and an Ohio State fan enjoy a humorous moment in their English 10 class.

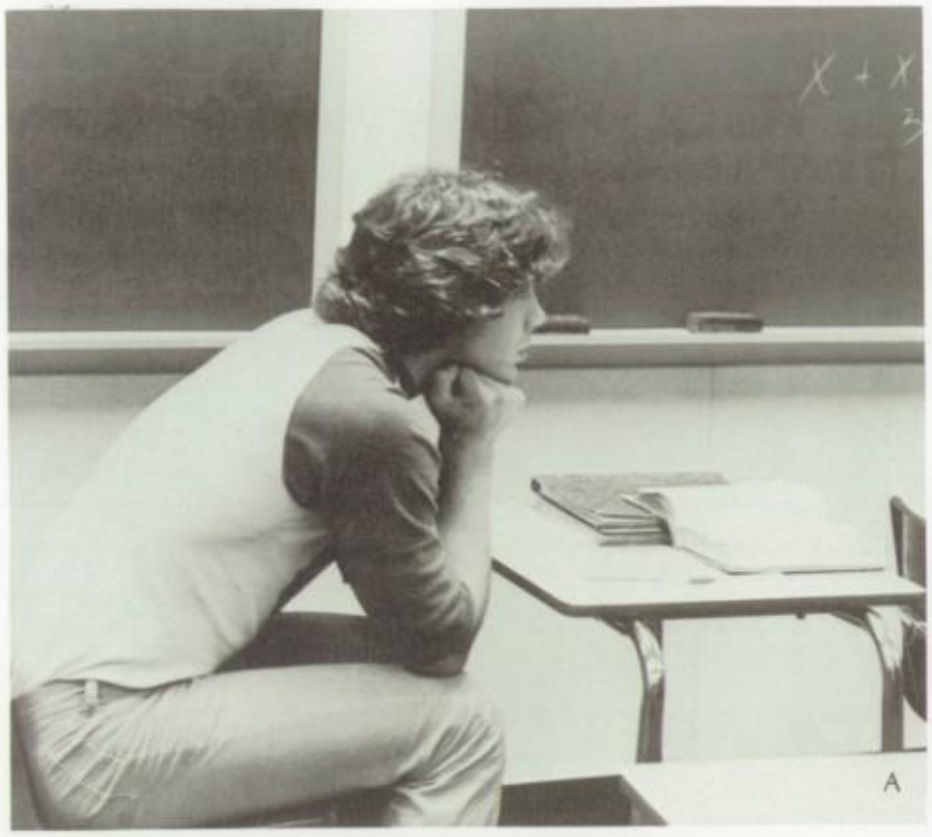
C) Wendy Starr enjoys a reading assignment in English 10.

D) Cheri Sosbe reads her report in English 10 while being watched by other students.

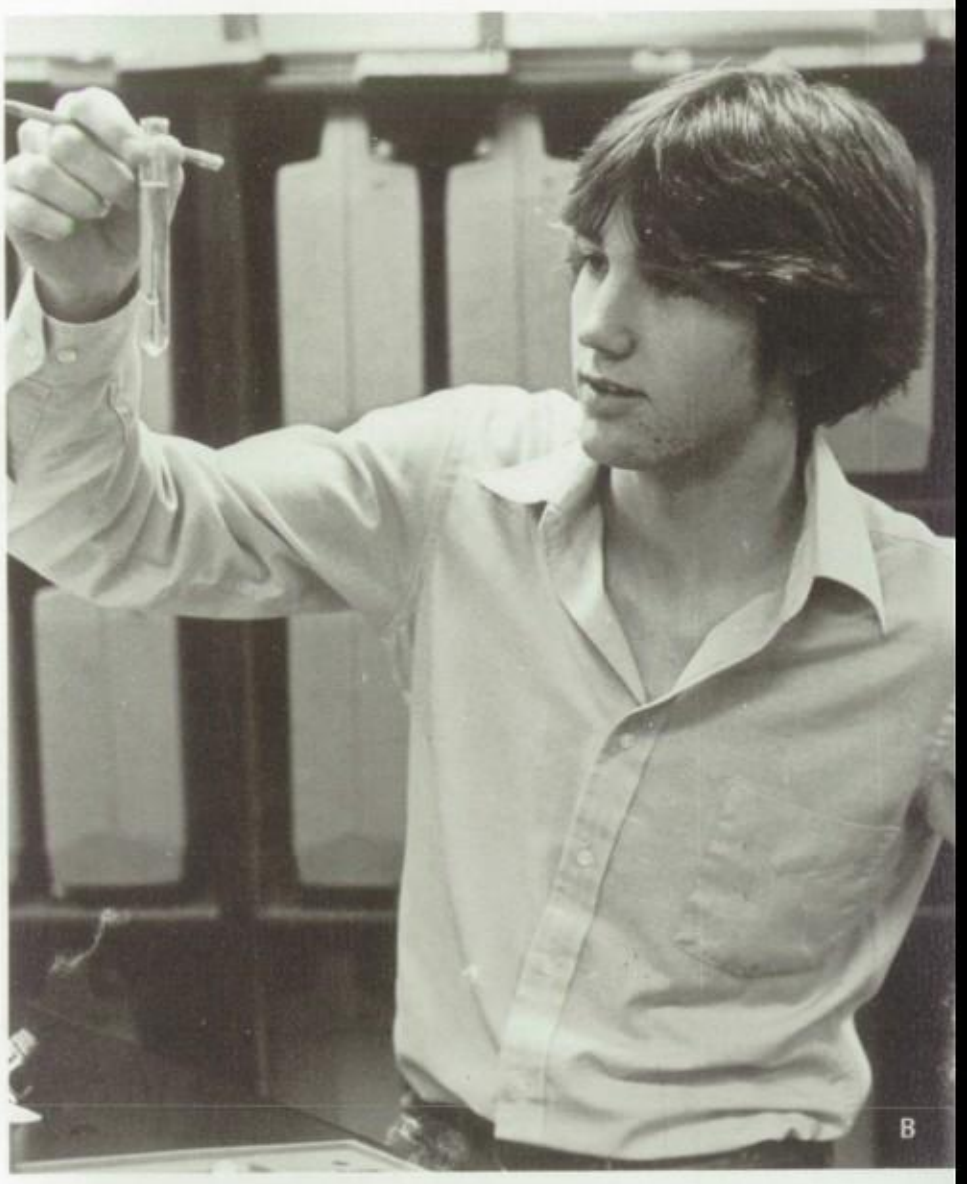
E) Marla Morse and Gordon Loud laugh hysterically at another student's comments in English 10.

F) Jeannie Shultz works intently on her biology assignment.

A) Jeff Simpson listens closely to his Algebra II assignment.



B) Chemistry student Tony Smith examines what is really in his test tube.



Juniors Have An Important Year

The Junior year was an important year academically. In October, SV assistant principal Dr. Edwin Murbach conducted a practice session for the PSAT test which followed a week later.

The Junior's schedules were usually full. The most common classes taken were American Studies or American Literature and history, Chemistry, and Algebra II or Trigonometry. Electives most often chosen were journalism, psychology, and creative writing.

In their junior year, most students decided whether to pursue a college or a vocational career.

During the year, juniors also began thinking about what college they would like to attend. A college night was organized in November. This enabled students and parents to talk with many different college representatives.

C) Jeanne Ehlenfeldt is totally engrossed in Mr. Timothy Kreps' lecture.

E) Lisa Zeitzew, Debbie Duvendack, and Lori Coder work together on their geometry assignment.

A) Debbie Shugarman and Michelle Conley practice their drama skit with much enthusiasm.

B) Andy Gersten receives help on his chemistry assignment from student observer Mrs. Tuttle from the University of Toledo.

C) Vaughn Rogers laughs at his paper as Sandi Wcislak looks on.

D) Heather Smith is in total concentration while attempting to complete her Trigonometry assignment.

E) One little, two little, three little Indians, Carole Hornberger, Becky Geiger, Chuck Radin, Heather Smith, and Pam Tyler participate in "The Wild West Show" in American Studies.

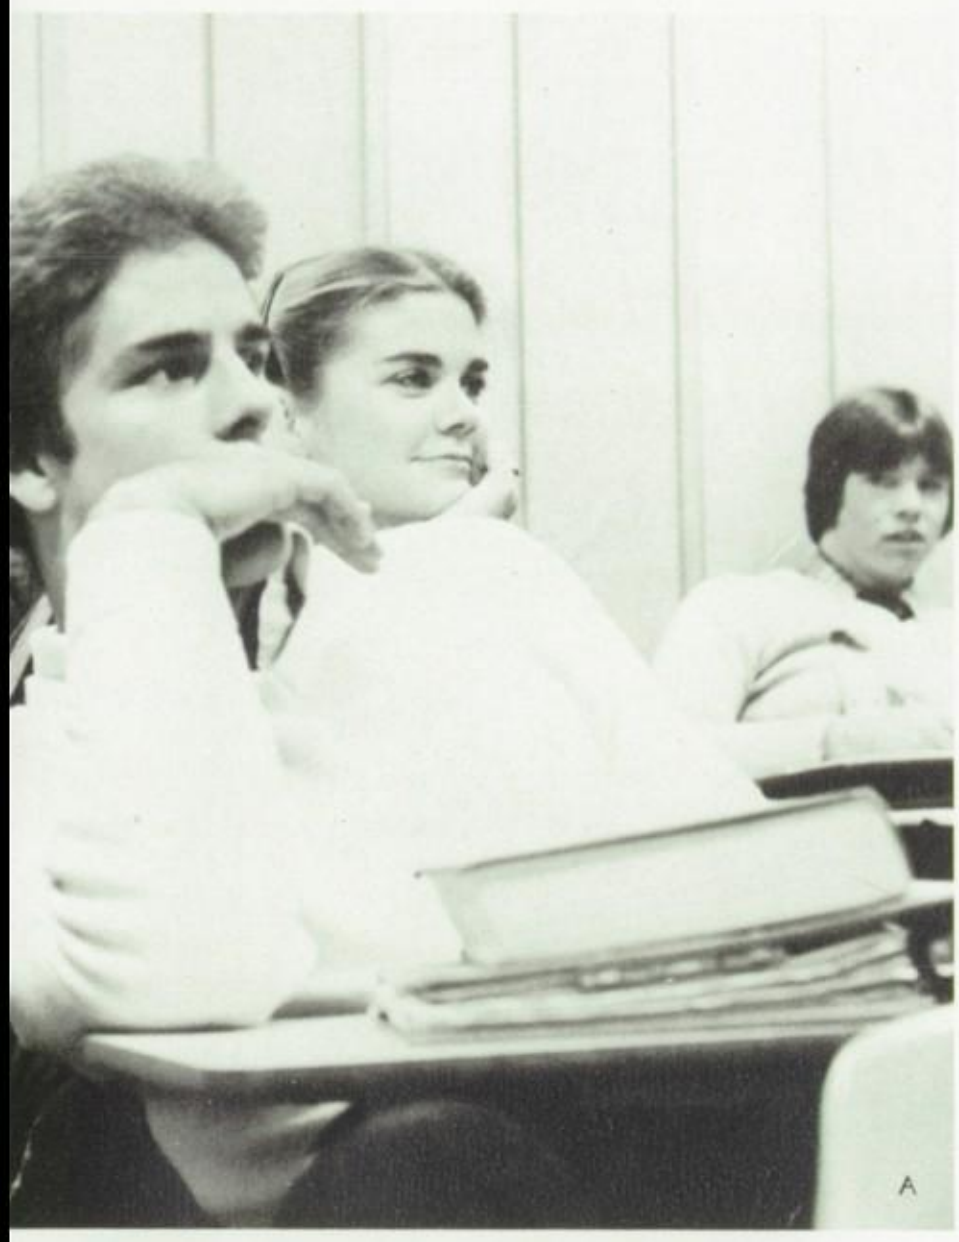
Seniors Finish High School

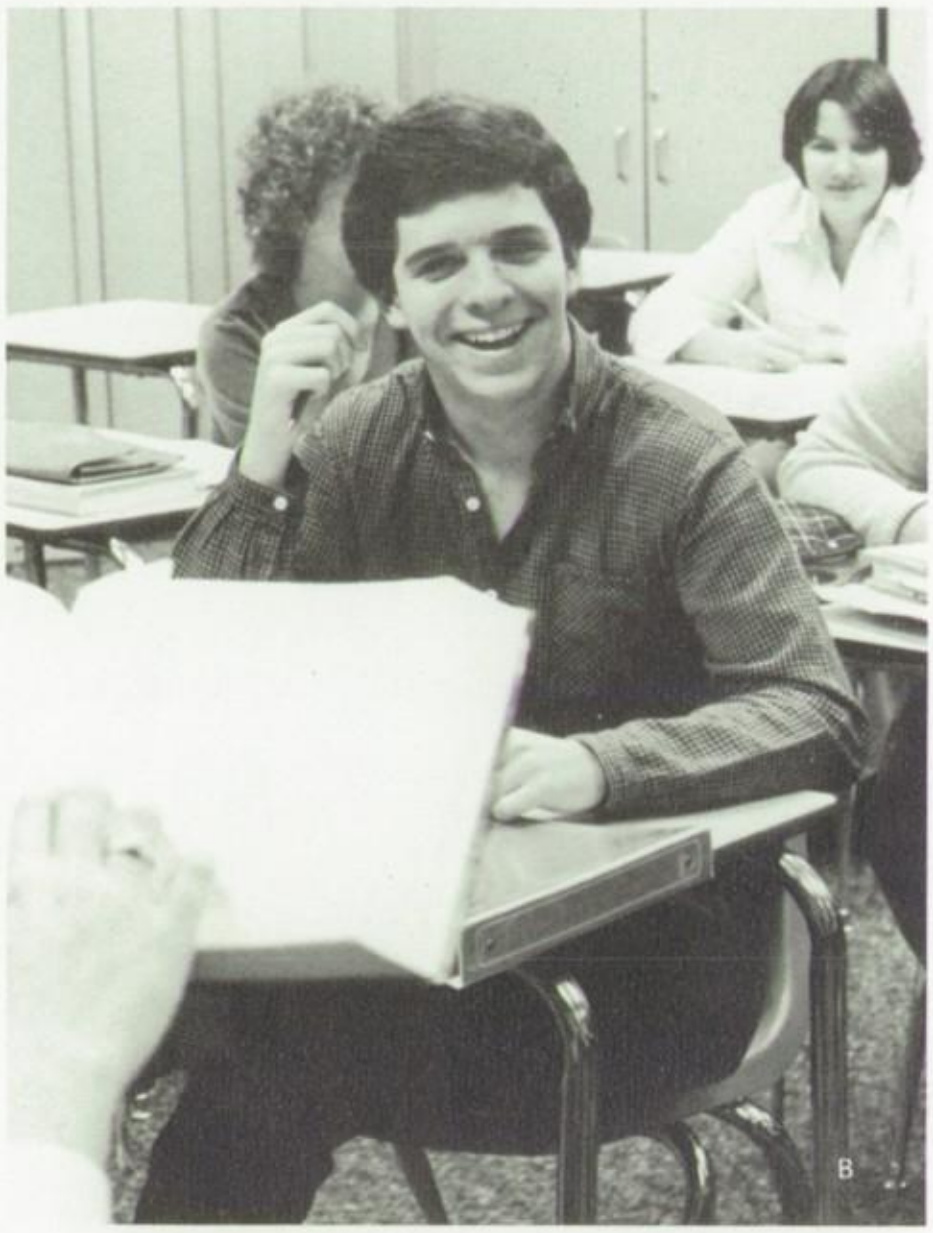
As the seniors drew near the end of their high school education, they found it to be filled with much anticipation toward graduation and an unquenchable drive to live each day to the fullest.

Each Senior's schedule was different, but the most common classes chosen were government, senior composition, anatomy, physics, and Trigonometry or Calculus.

As the seniors looked back on their past three years, they realized that they had accumulated many fond memories which will be long remembered.

E) Jenny Smith, Wes Strickland, Dave Kent, and Paula Wadsworth look at their Senior Composition book with unusual enthusiasm.





A) Tim Tullis and Rob Gautsche share a secret in Senior Literature while Renee Russeau listens in.

B) Todd Richard discovers that his Senior Literature class is even more fun than he had anticipated.

C) Jenny Smith concentrates on giving her speech in public speaking.

D) A few American Government books look lonely after being left by an un-interested student.

A) Robin Sosbe, Halle Berk, and Tammy Hurban try hard to keep their eyes open during a class lecture.

B) Jean Yoder concentrates on her Algebra II assignment.

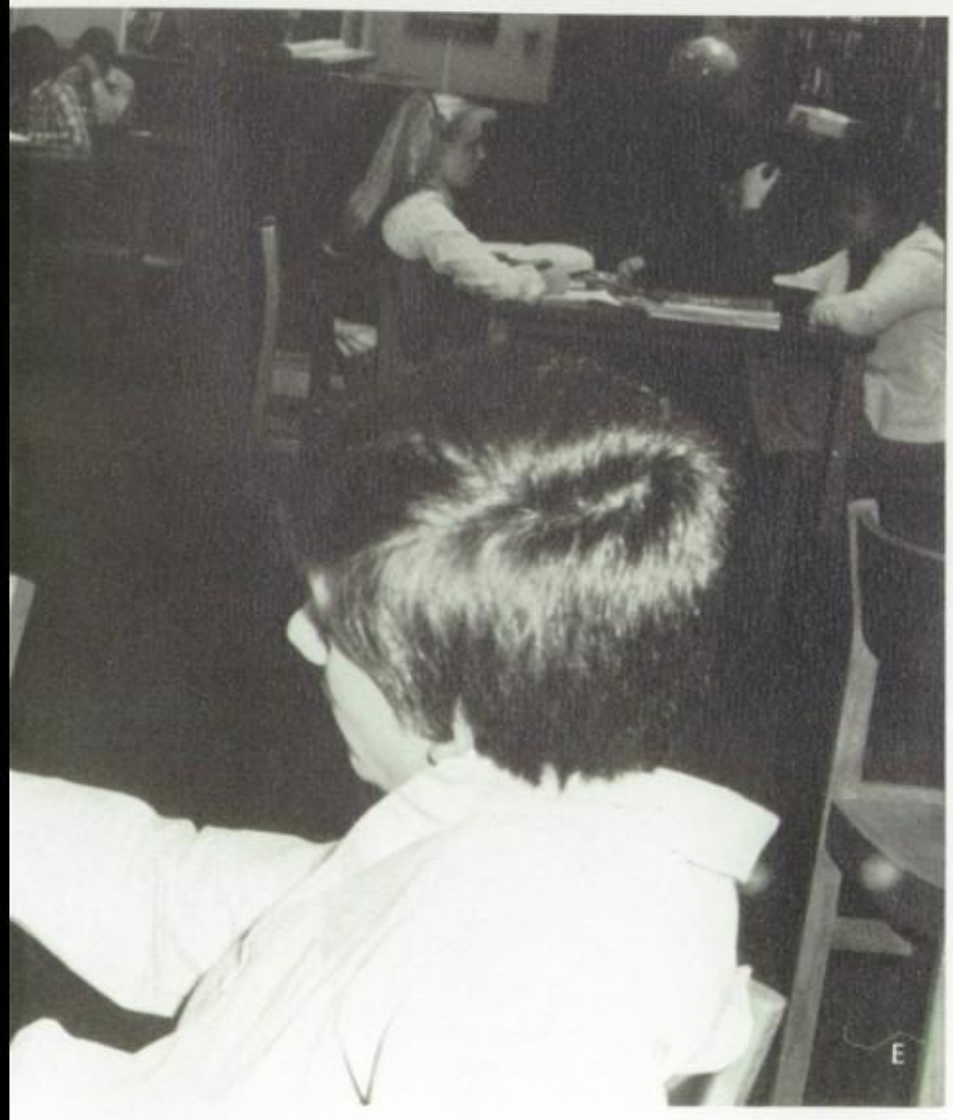
D) Meg Webster is thrilled with her Senior Literature lecture.

F) Bridget Henry smiles while working on her Senior Literature assignment.

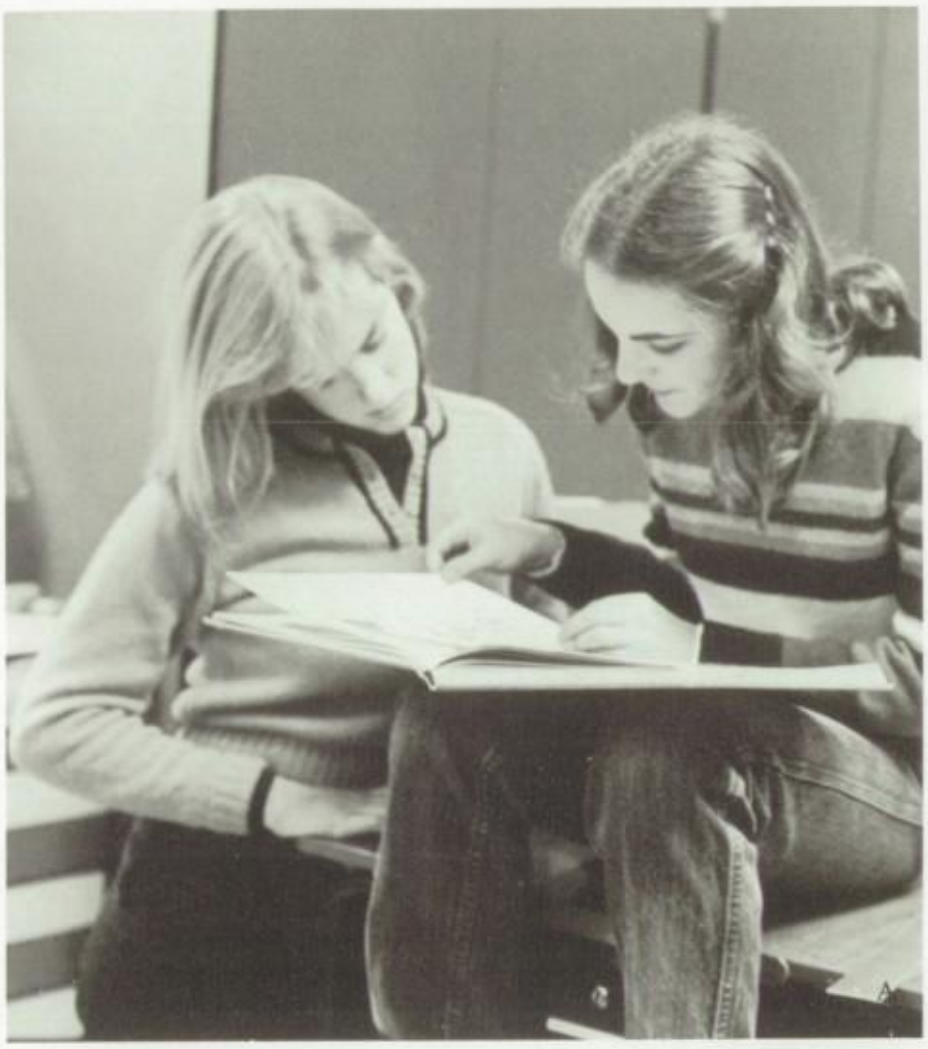
E) Sandy Hernandez and Bob Dazel spend their free period studying together.



Drawing The Future In Art

B) Junior Jeanne Ehlenfeldt works hard on her ink drawing.

C) Maggie Gillespie concentrates on finishing her pottery project.



A) Sophomores Lisa Carson and Kris Kramer are interested in an art book.

D) Ruth Mellin and Terrie Spino watch while Mr. Gary Rostetter shows them a few things about ink drawing.

Home Ec. Proves Tasty

E) Home Economics students taste their product.

F) Home Economics students watch to make sure nothing burns.

G) Senior Larry Lacure checks his creation.

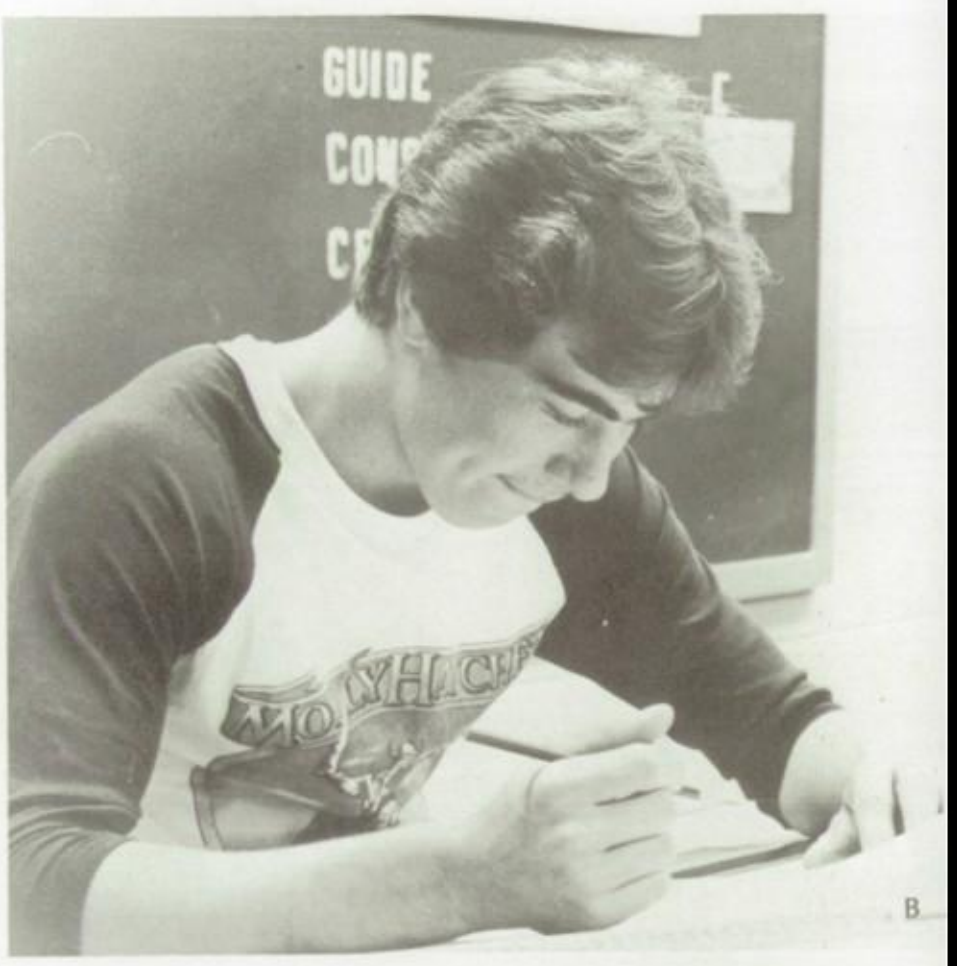
New Dimensions In Drafting

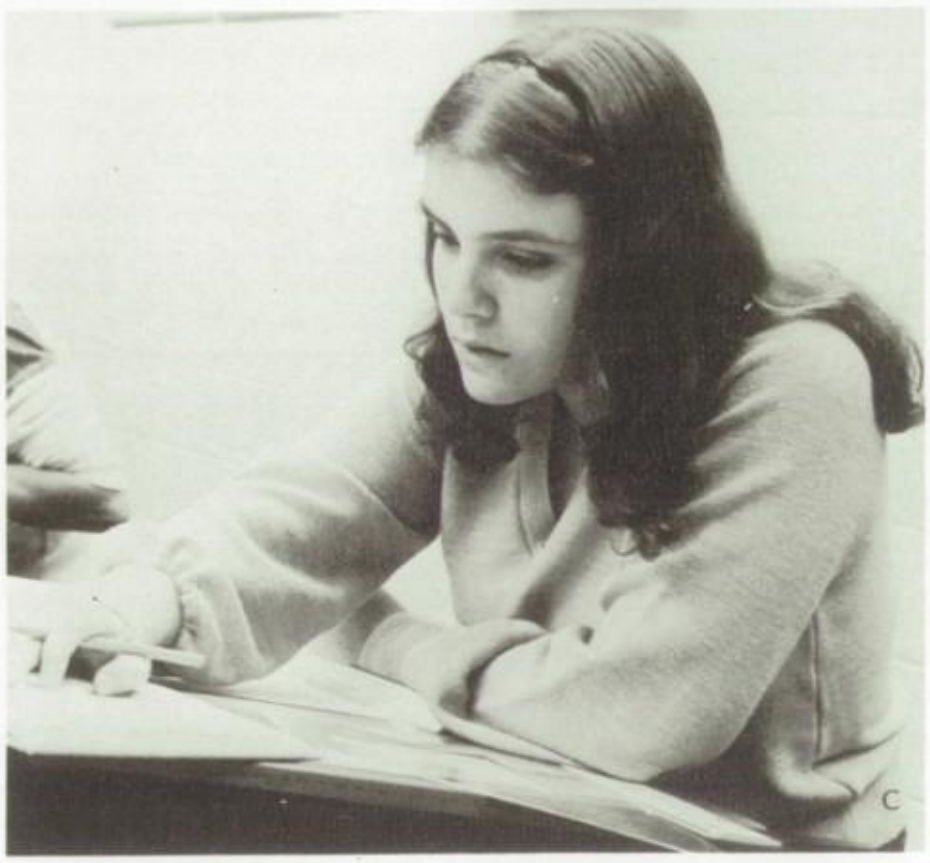
Drafting students, under the direction of Drafting Instructor Mr. Gerry Limes, spent many hours with rulers and triangles in hand to design a number of class projects. Course emphasis was placed on architectural design and geometric design construction. Students in advanced drafting courses learned about more complicated architectural problems.

Last year, Drafting III students Kevin Lafferty and John Gillespie designed a sign to post atheletic events for the front of the Southview building, complete with removeable letters. The sign needed the approval of the Sylvania Board of Education before it could be erected.

A) Senior Jeff Nowak works diligently on his drafting project.

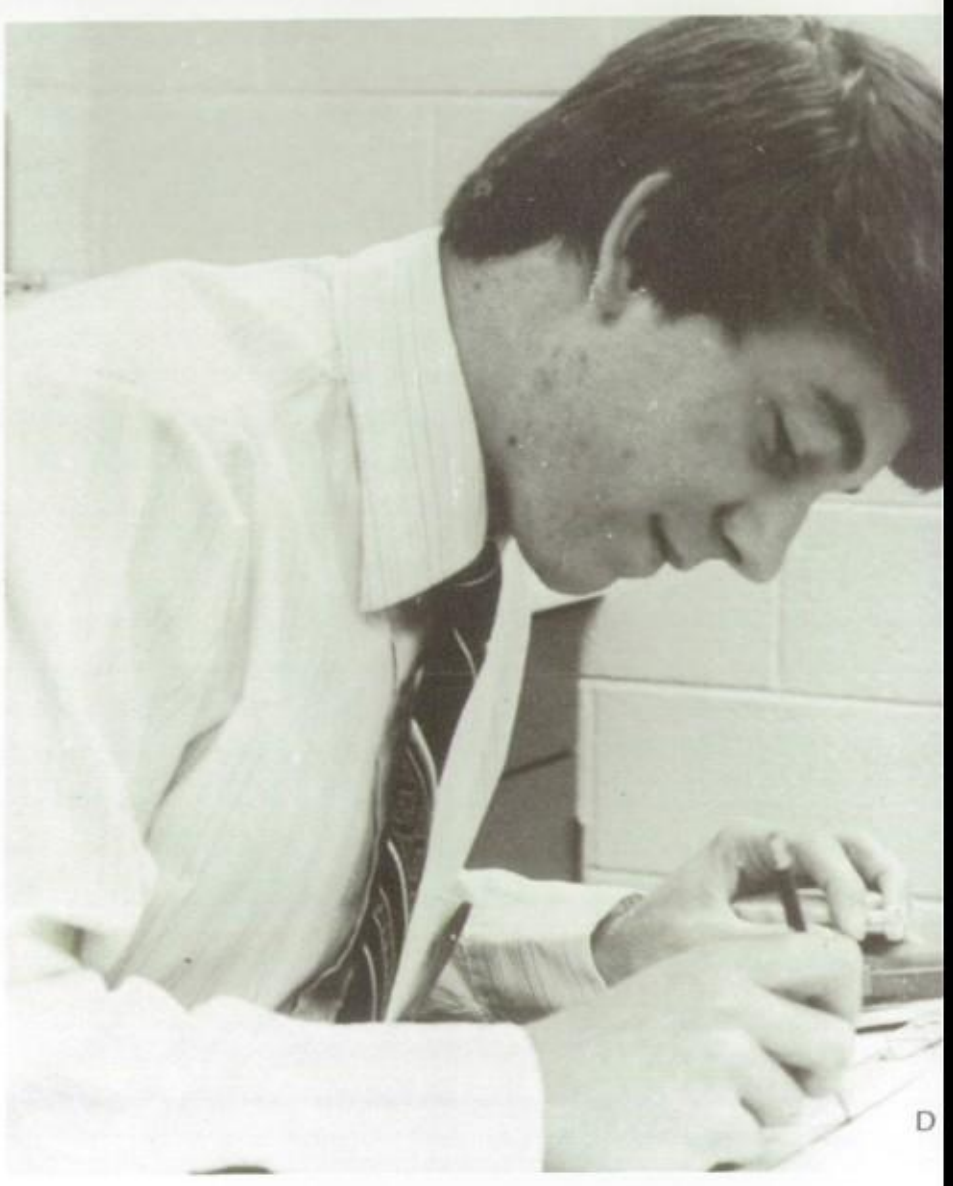
B) Sophomore Scott Nowak concentrates on his drafting assignment.





C) Sophomore Cindy Beam proves that drafting is not just for boys; here she puts much determination into her work.

D) Senior Bob Dazel enjoys drawing plans for the Senior carpentry house.



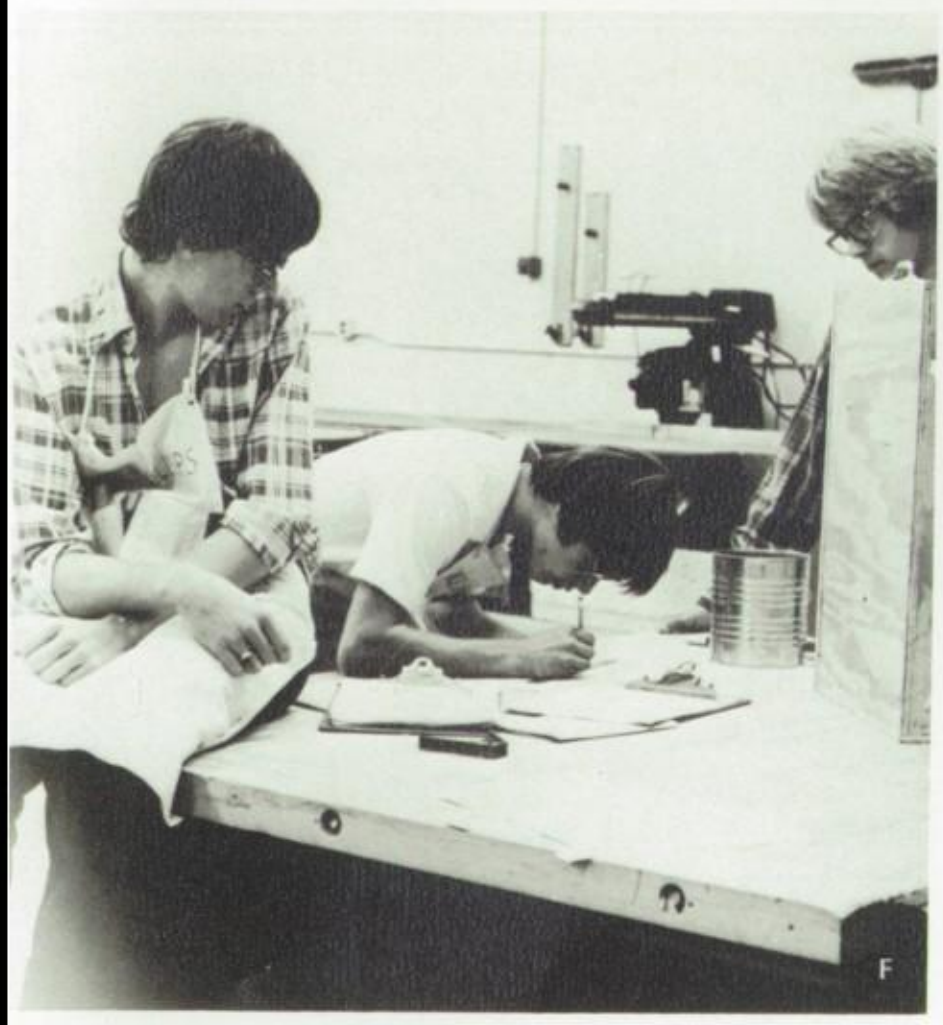
Industrial Arts Builds Future

Industrial Art students learned about the construction of useful household items.

All aspects of construction were included, such as design and mechanics, with an emphasis on the accuracy and the durability of the products which were tooled by hand by Mr. Bruce Davie's first year Industrial Arts students.

Second year students specialized in a number of various techniques that they learned as first year students, such as the use of plastics, wood, sheet metal, electricity, and working materials by hand. Second year students also designed and produced their own projects.

E) Bill Sams carefully paints a bench.



F) Mike Kellogg works hard while other classmates look on.

G) Tim Redlin makes use of his dexterity while sanding down a surface.

Vocational Education Opens Many Career Opportunities

A) Bill Ruth skillfully sands down the rough edges on a car in auto body.

B) Sherry Singer enjoys having her hair done for her during a guest presentation in steno.

C) Janie Arduser is happy with the thoughts of her new face.

D) Two Vocational Education students work hard at the house site.

E) Doug Martin concentrates on constructing the house to perfection.

F) Vocational Education students use their craftsmanship to build a house.

Together For The First Time

The best thing about being a freshman was that everything was new and different. From the commons to the classes, from the sports to the dances, there was something for each person to experience for the first time.

There was also the opportunity to meet new people and make new friends among the freshman class as well as among the other classes. Big sisters and little sisters shared some good times together.

However, the one thing that most freshmen pinpointed as their favorite aspect of high school life was the freedom.

"It's a good change from junior high," Pete Brown said.

"I liked everything about my freshman year. Especially meeting new people and watching the sporting events," Teri Shall said.

Some people looked at it in a different way. Carol Schnorf was one of these people.

"Now there's only three more years left in high school!" she said.

Together Once More

Most high school students agree that high school gets better all the time. Sophomores found that their second year at Southview was better than the first, as they were not the new kids in town anymore.

Two Sophomores, Lisa Carson and Marla Morse, agreed that one highlight of their year was turning sixteen and getting their drivers' license.

For other members of the class of '83, a big event of the year was receiving their class rings, which arrived in January.

This year the sophomores were up one level higher, not being freshmen anymore. Sophomores also found that at the end of the year, they were halfway to that magic day of graduation.

Together Again

After being intimidated by the upperclassmen for the first two years of high school, this year's Juniors were finally considered upperclassmen themselves. As a matter of fact, when asked what she liked about being a Junior, Susan Reuven replied: "We are finally considered upperclassmen."

One of the advantages of being an upperclassman was being able to play in the annual Powderpuff game against the Seniors. All of the team practices and the team cheering during the game helped to bring the Junior class closer together. Jeanne Kent and Greg Rochte said that Powderpuff was one of the highlights of their Junior year.

For some, going to Junior Prom was a special event of their year.

Watching Senior friends graduate was upsetting for some, but the Juniors look forward to next year when they will be Seniors themselves.

Together For The Last Time

There were many advantages to being a Senior. After three long years of high school, they had finally reached the top.

"There were a lot more things to do, like going to Florida, Senior Skip Day, Senior Prom, and Senior chorus line," Sandy Hernandez said.

And for some, it was the added privileges and freedom that were the best parts of the Senior year. Getting to leave school early was a favorite among most seniors — it was just one step closer to being independent.

"You get to graduate and go to college and start a new life on your own," Bob Dazel said.

For others, the Senior year offered more activities and more fun, such as for Sue Hague-Rogers who said the best part about being a Senior was "Graduation, pranks, Florida, and parties!"

A Teacher Affects Eternity; He Can Never Tell Where His Influence Stops -Henry Adams

Being a teacher at Southview was more than an eight hour a day job. It was a commitment; some teachers even worked as advisors, coaches, and sponsors.

This year, the faculty contributed many out-of-school hours as chaperones and coaches of various teams. Others gave their time working with students on classwork.

Both counselors and teachers at Southview helped to make the school year a smooth one, and provided valuable services to the students and to the Sylvania area.

Unity Builds Better Baseball

With united effort, the Junior Varsity Baseball team, under Coach Paul Haase and Coach Jerry Fletcher, performed to the best of their abilities last spring to present strong competition for the other teams in their league.

Although the team played well, they finished with a record of 5-17 because, as Coach Haase explained, "Our team encountered practiced and more powerful opponents."

Coach Haase was proud of the team's excellent efforts in the Evergreen Tournament.

"That was the best baseball we played in the whole season and it won us third place in the tournament," he said.

In this, his second year of coaching, Coach Haase also said, "Improvement was evident, good experience was gained, and the players learned to work together as a team."

B) Members of the 1980 J.V. Baseball Team are: BACK ROW: Coach Jerry Fletcher, Mickey Frame, John Crowner, Mike Franklin, Dennis Layman, Eric Amstutz, Tony Smith, Dave Miller, Greg Rochte, Dave Danzeisen, Coach Paul Haase; SECOND ROW: John Carotenuto, Steve Gimre, Greg Kasprzak, Jeff Pittman, Tom Hauck, Charlie Lambert, Kurt Bernsdorff, Keith Sidwell.

C) Sophomore Charlie Lambert plans to catch the ball if the batter strikes out.

D) At bat, Junior Kurt Bernsdorff connects with the ball to make a home run.

A) Two '80 graduates, Jeff Mathes and Bob Braun, stand in the infield, ready for the next play.

B) Senior Rob Gautsche hold a conference with his teammates for plans on their next play.

D) On the pitcher's mound is Senior Greg Welsh hoping for a possible strike out.

Baseball Has Rebuilding Year

Last year's 1980 Boys' Varsity Baseball Team had another rebuilding season under Head Baseball Coach John Raszka. The team finished the season with a 7-14 overall record and finished with a 5-7 record in NLL competition.

At the 1980 Spring Sports Banquet, Bob Kempter was named the Most Valuable Player, Greg Welsh earned the Most Improved trophy, and Keith Stilwell received the Captain's Award.

Coach Raszka also coached Southview's Summer Varsity Team. Seniors Rob Gautsche and Bob Dazel were named to the All-Star team. During the summer season there was great improvement, according to Coach Raszka.

"The team played the game better. Instead of beating themselves by bad plays and errors, the boys beat their opponents."

Coach Raszka looked into the future back in November and predicted that the 1981 Varsity pitching staff would be coming along fine with Seniors Matt Millington and Welsh. Also, the outfield would be tough with Junior Chuck LeBeau, he said.

Cindermen Set Records

Working together, last year's track team, under the direction of Coach Bruce Davie, won many awards. "We had a very successful season and finished in second place in the NLL, "Mr. Davie said. "One of the high points of our season was when Rob Hollister set a league record in the mile run with a time of 4:23.7."

'80 graduate Robbie Hollister was one of the many team members to break a school record. Senior Mike Lewis became the district discus champion with a throw of 157'7''. Lewis placed eleventh in state competition with the same distance. The Blade Relays awarded Lewis with second place honors in the discus and a fourth place in the shot put.

Juniors Kevin Brown, Chris Kempter, Donnie LeVally and Jeff Simpson worked well together to break two school relay team records. They ran the 400-meter relay with a time of 45.1 seconds and the mile relay in 3:28.8

Coach Davie, assisted by Coaches Chet Trail, Mike Gory, Mary Ann Manseau, and Carey Weaver, named Mike Lewis as the Most Valuable Player; Robbie Hollister, Most Improved Player; and awarded Donnie LeVally the Coach's Award.

Girl Trackers Take Trophies

With the assistance of coaches Mary Ann Manseau, Mike Gory, and Chet Trail, Coach Bruce Davie said he felt that the girls track season was a successful one.

"The girls had a good dual meet season and brought many trophies back to Southview from these competitions," Mr. Davie said.

The runners won fifth place in the Lake Invitational and set several outstanding records this year. Some high points of the season were when Senior Alice Heidtman jumped for 16'¼" in the long jump; Senior Jenny Berkey leaped 5'3" in the high jump; Senior Terri Williams threw the discus a record breaking 98'9"; and when Junior Jean Holas won a third place award in the Blade Relays in the 1600-meter run.

"Our team spirit and group effort was high and winning came easily," Mr. Davie said.

He awarded Most Valuable Player to Jean Holas; the Coaches Award to '80 graduate Val Stevens; and the Most Improved Player trophy to Senior Leslie Brown.

Varsity Members Honored By NLL

After a total of 21 games, the Varsity Softball Team came out on the short end with a 7-14 overall record and a 5-9 record in league games.

According to Coach Steve Marlatt, the girls learned more than just softball.

"The girls learned a lot about softball and being a team," Coach Marlatt said.

There were a lot of young players who earned varsity letters and got experience. Some of that experience was gained during a close tournament game lost to Elida.

Team honors went to Kandy Scott for being the Most Valuable Player, Lisa Kasprzak was named Most Improved Player, and '80 graduate Nancy Golembiewski received the Captain's Award. These same three girls were also honored by the NLL: Scott was named to second team; Kasprzak to first team left field; and Golembiewski to second team utility player.

J.V. Softballers Post Good Season

Mrs. Vicky Risacher began her first year of coaching when she took on the 1980 Girls' Softball Junior Varsity Team.

Coach Risacher said that she had a democratic way of coaching; she let the girls help make many of the decisions. In order to develop their softball skills, she exposed the girls to positions they wanted to play. Coach Risacher was also happy that all 13 girls who went out for the team stuck with it the entire season.

"We're proud of the girls who moved up to the varsity level," Coach Risacher said.

The girls were hard working and everyone had a chance to play in every game. The team finished the season at 6-5 overall and 3-5 in the NLL.

B) Sophomore Diane Kuhl makes an easy out by pitching the ball to Sophomore Darcy Baumgartner.

C) Coach Risacher keeps an eye on her batter and hopes to soon see her running to third base.

J.V. Netters: Too Tough To Beat

Under the coaching of Mr. Craig DeCrane, the 1979 Boy's J.V. Tennis Team compiled an overall record of 11-2.

"We were the second best J.V. team in Northwest Ohio," Mr. DeCrane said. "We probably could've beaten some area varsity teams."

Outstanding players for the team were Steve Blumberg, Rob Bruno, Mark Ludwin, Jeff Judis, and John Lebeau. Other key team members were Greg Glasser, Jerry Vandiver, and Todd Novak. These young men will keep Southview's tradition of producing great tennis teams going strong.

Varsity Netters Smash Their Way To NLL Title

The 1980 Cougar Varsity Netters captured the NLL Championship with the help of coach Thomas Laasch. They completed their season with an overall record of 12-5.

The only Senior on the team was Jeff Quinto.

"He was the catalyst, he rooted and stood behind everyone," explained Mr. Laasch.

Quinto and Bobby Weisberg teamed up at doubles and fought their way to a First Team All-League selection.

Junior Mike Spence, the team's number one singles player, made second team NLL along with freshman sensation Ricky Greenberg, who had a record of 14-4. Spence posted a record of 17-8 and was the only player to advance into district competition.

NLL honorable mention selections were Sophomore Mike Abrahamson and the doubles team of Seniors John Broer and Greg Mott.

"The NLL Championship was really exciting and heart-stopping," Mr. Laasch said.

Bowling Green was leading with 48 points, and Abrahamson, Broer, and Mott were still playing. Things were looking dismal because both of them were losing. The steel-nerved Abrahamson fought his way back from near defeat to win. The dynamic duo of Broer and Mott followed suit and also came from behind to attain victory.

Other key players were Steve Schwartz, Eugene Pinkus, and Steve Abrahamson. Every member was important. They won the league as a team.

Boys' C.C. Earns District Visit

The Boys' Cross Country Team gets better each year, and this year was definitely no exception. Coach Jeff Bunker began conditioning his team in the early summer with practices every other day, then as the season approached, the work outs were held each day.

Southview opened the season against rival school Northview. Other satisfying defeats were registered against Findlay and Whitmer.

The team finished the season at 11-2, losing only to the league champs, Bowling Green, and also Bedford. The team then later finished second in the NLL Championships, behind Bowling Green.

This year's top runner was Junior Dave Danzeisen, who earned first team league honors and a third place finish in both the "Eagle Invitational" and the Sectional Meet. Junior Tom Hauck also placed on the first league team, and Senior Bill McMann and Junior Ron Erd qualified for second team honors in the NLL.

The team also qualified for the District Meet after placing second at Sectionals out of 17 teams, their best finish of the year. In their first appearance at Districts, the team came home with a ninth place finish.

The Junior Varsity Team showed great depth for the upcoming season as they finished with a 5-0 season and ran away with the league championship.

The Varsity Coach's Award went to Senior Tim Warrick at the Fall Sports Banquet and Danzeisen and McMann earned the Most Valuable Runner and Most Improved Runner trophies respectively.

Girls' C.C. Win Eight

The Girls' Cross Country Team under Coach Jeff Bunker posted a winning record this year of 8-5. The team participated in invitationals and dual meets within the area as well as running on their own course at Secor Park. The girls placed fifth in the league and showed potential for next year with six returning lettermen.

Top Cougar runner Senior Leslie Brown earned a trip to Columbus for the State Meet after her outstanding eighth place finish at the District Meet held Oct. 25 at Ottawa Park. Both Brown and Junior Jean Holas were awarded first team NLL honors. Brown was presented with the Most Valuable Runner award at the Fall Sports Banquet held in November.

Frosh Football Display Offensive Excellence

The 1980 Freshmen Football Team, under the direction of coaches Richard Hartman, John Merki, and Dave Scarberry, compiled a fantastic record of 5-2.

The team packed a devastating offensive punch and backed it up with an extremely aggresive defensive unit. According to Mr. Hartman, the Cougars scored a total of 152 points as compared to a mere 30 points by their opponents.

Runningbacks Dennis Haymier and Jim Eckstrom spearheaded the team's scoring. Haymier accounted for fourteen touchdowns and Eckstrom had three touchdowns with numerous extra points. Defensive players Paul McGrew and Mark Martin each scored during the season also. Mr. Hartman explained that Martin scored on a blocked punt by Chuck Moline during the Bowling Green game. Dave Sieja led the team in tackles.

"The team suffered two close defeats at the start of the season, but after that they pulled together and won the next five games," Mr. Hartman said. "We won four of those five games by 30 points or more. Perrysburg was the toughest team we played. We demolished Anthony Wayne, who was undefeated, by a score of 30-0."

Mr. Hartman said that after the first two games the players realized that they could win. Everything fell into place and they did just that. The team finished second in the league due to the fact that they had a lot of support, and they did it together.

J.V.'s Achieve Goals

"Our Junior Varsity players set a mutual goal for this season and I believe they accomplished it," said the Junior Varsity Football Coach Mr. Sam Walter. At the beginning of the season, Coach Walter and Coach Bruce Davie's young team set goals to work hard together, to learn to play their positions, to improve their skills, and to develop strength and aggressiveness for this year and years to come. Their efforts were rewarded with a very respectable record of 4-4.

B) Sophomore Greg Kasprzak fades back to pass the ball.

Coaches Walter and Davie's greatest satisfaction with the team came when the Cougars played their most exciting game against Perrysburg.

"We won that unforgettable game when Sophomore Greg Kasprzak threw a pass to Sophomore Joe Fike who carried the ball and made a winning touchdown in the last 15 seconds of the game," Coach Walter said.

Other outstanding players were Sophomore running back Kelly Lewis and Sophomore linebacker and tackle Larry Graham.

Varsity Football: Defensive Dominance

Head Coach Steve Marlatt and his Varsity Cougar Football team finished their season with a record of 4-6. The Cougars placed fourth in the league by winning their last two league games to boost their record to 3-4.

The Cougars had the second best defense in the league and it showed. They never gave up more than two touchdowns. The last two football games of the year proved the toughness of Southview's defense. They shut out both Rossford and Maumee, and gave Maumee a total of negative two yards rushing.

The team was tri-captained by seniors Tim Sterling, Rob Gautsche, and Tim Luck. Gautsche was named to the first team all-league defense and the second team all-league offense. Mike Lewis and Wes Strickland were chosen second team NLL defense. Honorable mention defense selections were Terry Pierson, Tim Luck, Jeff Pittman, Steve McGill, and Jeff Simpson. Chris Kempter, Wes Strickland, Mark Hemsath, and Kevin Cummings were all given honorable mention offense honors. Senior quarterback Bob Dazel finished the season with one of the best performances of his high school career.

"I'm really proud of these guys," Mr. Marlatt said. "They stuck it out all season and showed everyone what they could do. I had twenty-two positions to fill and only seven lettermen returning at the start of the year. Now I have thirteen lettermen for next year: six juniors and seven sophomores. Next year I'll be looking for another five to six sophomores to letter plus some of this year's J.V. players, just like Kurt Bernsdorff and Todd VanValkenburg did this past year," he added.

"With hard work, determination, and dedication, we will be right up there competing for the top of the league."

Golfers Gain Sectional Title

"We had a great season and were one putt away from having a magnificient season," Varsity Golf Coach Charles Hickman said. "We were in a three-way tie at the NLL Championships and in the playoffs. We fell one putt short from winning," he added.

The Cougar golfers bounced right back from the league match and won the Sectional Tournament. Each player turned in a great score in producing this victory. "Another highlight of the season was our first place finish at the Napoleon Invitational," Mr. Hickman said.

The team consisted of four seniors: Todd Bergwall, John Burchfield, John Christensen, and Jon Mandel; and two sophomores: Jeff Judis and Jeff Williams. Each of the four seniors received all-NLL honors. Burchfield and Christensen were first and second team all-league respectively. Bergwall and Mandel were honorable mention selections.

The golf team is one of the unheralded sports in the school. Each member deserves considerable recognition for the hard work and effort he has put into making Southview's golf team one with which to be reckoned.

"The record that the four seniors have compiled in the last three years will stand as a great goal for future Southview golfers to achieve," Mr. Hickman said.

J.V. Golfers Win Seven Straight

The J.V. Golf team, under the direction of Mr. Thomas Laasch, posted a season record of 11-4.

"What is great about their record is that at one point they were 4-4, but then proceeded to win the next seven," Mr. Laasch said. The Cougar golfers went on to defeat each of the teams that had previously beaten them.

Mr. Laasch said that the key to their streak of victories was that he found the right combination of golfers. Another important factor was that everyone played consistant golf.

J.V. Tennis Team Shows Promise

"Our Southview Junior Varsity Netters gained much valuable playing experience through the season," said Ms. Patty Couturier after her first season as tennis coach came to a close. Under Ms. Couturier's guidance, the Southview J.V. Tennis Team played many exhibition games. She said, "I feel that these games served to give the girls experience which will be beneficial for future playing on the Southview tennis team."

According to Ms. Couturier, Freshmen Jennifer Chambers and Barb Herron came through the season with the most wins of the eight girls on the team.

Varsity Netters Hold School Match Record

It seems that the record held last year by the girls' Varsity Tennis team was worth repeating as this year's team matched that very same record.

"Considering the strength of the other schools, we held our own very well with our young, but terrific, tennis players," said Ms. Patty Couturier, the new girls' tennis coach this year. She said she felt that spirit was high among the younger players of the team since many freshmen and sophomores were playing so well during the year.

The team finished their season with a 4-2 record in league matches and placed third in the NLL. Their overall record was 6-7.

Freshman Susan Mabry and Sophomore Bonnie Odesky placed first NLL team second doubles, and Freshmen Marla Bobowick and Tammy Weisburg placed second NLL team first doubles.

V-ball Travels To Regionals

It was not a growth burst that got the Southview Varsity Volleyball team to the State Regional Tournament; it was the heart and the ability to pull everything together at just the right time. The team was under the guidance of Coach Renee Smith, who was named Co-Coach of the Year in the Northern Lakes League. Other NLL honors went to Kandy Scott, first team; Julie Gajewicz, second team; and Cheri Spino qualified for Honorable Mentions.

Honors were distributed to Scott as the Most Valuable Player; Karen Zollner as the Most Improved player; and Terrie Spino was awarded the Coach's Award.

After a 17-6 overall season record and a third place finish in the league, the team beat Perrysburg in Sectionals and Bowling Green at Districts after losing twice to both teams during the regular season. The next week the team went to Findlay to play in the Regional Tournament against the Lima Shawnee Indians. After losing the first nerve-wracking game, the Cougars came back to win the third game by a score of 15-9 and then lost their second game to put them out of the competition.

J.V. V-Ball Gains Experience

The Junior Varsity Volleyball Team was headed by Coach Jan Blakeman, a '79 graduate from Southview. In her second year of coaching, Miss Blakeman turned in a season record of 7-9. The reason for the low record was due to the fact that most of the girls on the team were freshmen and they played against teams made up mostly of sophomores and juniors.

"The team was good, it was just that they played more experienced and older teams," Coach Blakeman said.

The team had three sophomores to give the team the experience that they had. These sophomores were Amy Sterling, Vickie Trail, who was an excellent hitter, and Karen Skeans, who was just super good, according to Coach Blakeman, and who played her last four games with a broken thumb.

All but one of the original 13 girls remained on the team for the entire season. These 12 remaining girls each received J.V. letters or certificates at the Fall Sports Banquet for the participation in the sport.

Frosh Netters Show Progress

The SV Freshman Basketball Team, coached by Mr. Sam Walter, chose to set progress as their goal for this year.

"The boys learned to be very quick and aggressive on the court," Mr. Walter said, "and we were able to achieve many victories from road games."

The younger Cougar team's harmonious efforts to win their games brought about the active interest and support of the entire student body.

"The Freshmen played before large, cheering crowds, and worked hard to please their fans," Mr. Walter said. "The team was seldom outrebounded and we developed better skill, speed, and penetration this season," he added.

According to Coach Walter, Freshman Marc Martin was one of the top centers in the NLL and one of the top scorers for the Cougars.

The cohesive strength of the Freshman Basketball Team was due to the boys' cooperative and empathetic attitude toward the team's efforts to achieve their goals. This spirit helped them to finish well in their season.

Fast Break Is J.V. Strategy

The JV Basketball team's spirit and ambition, coupled with Coach Gerald Limes' dedicated and experienced coaching, produced a good season of victories.

"Although the team was lacking in height," said Coach Limes, "we made up for that deficiency with super fast break plays. The fast break and run down the court rewarded us with good chances to put the ball up and in the bucket for scoring points," he said.

The use of this strategy helped the Cougars to win many games in the season, including a win over Northview by a score of 60-55 on December 30.

Coach Limes gave recognition to some valuable players on his team.

"Eric Russell had a great shot; Eric Papcun developed good penetration in the opponent's defensive zones; and Rick Greenberg expertly moved into the key with the ball," Coach Limes said.

Although there were a few players with minor injuries resulting from some games, the team was able to overcome these problems by dribbling, dunking, passing, shooting, and scoring well in their successful season.

Varsity Spirit Soars High

The Boys' Varsity Basketball Team, coached by Mr. Larry Jones, received unbelievable support from the fans this season.

"The games were outcrowded with Cougar fans at home and especially at away games," Mr. Jones said. "The loyalty and devotion of the fans, along with strong team spirit and effort, gave us an exciting season."

Mr. Jones was proud of the many compliments his team received from referees who liked the Cougar's court strategy, and especially the boys' respect for authority when calls may have been unfavorable for them.

"The young men I have worked with this season and in past seasons have been the best kids a coach could hope to work with, and I really admire them for their great determination, dedication, ability, and understanding of working together to produce good results," Mr. Jones said.

"Team spirit is vital both in winning and losing," Mr. Jones added.

Senior Tim Tullis, one of the best offensive guards in the NLL, and Senior Bill McMann, a top rebounder, were the team's key men in winning this season.

"The Maumee game at Maumee was the most thrilling game of the year when the Cougars displayed their ability to steam up power to roll ahead of their opponents to capture a victory," Mr. Jones said. "We'll use more steam next year!"

J.V. Wins 6 Games In Sequence

The Southview Girls' J.V. Basketball Team experienced a winning season this year, winning six of its last eight games to boost their season record to 13-7.

Coach Dee Davie, a teacher at Stranahan Elementary who formerly coached fourth and fifth graders, took on the challenge of coaching the girls, and the challenge paid off late in the season with a string of victories.

After losing to Perrysburg earlier in the year, the squad defeated the Yellow Jackets 35-34 in a double overtime contest. Another highlight of the season was the defeat of the then-unbeaten Northview squad, 32-25.

But the team was not without its injuries during the season. Sophomore Teresa Clark injured her knee but returned to play later in the season.

"She (Clark) was the hardest worker. She worked in the weight room and everything. She reminds me of someone on 'That's Incredible,' " Coach Davie remarked.

An injury to Sophomore Darcy Baumgartner sent her to the bench for the conclusion of the season.

This year's team was led by sophomores Brenda Burchfield and Laura Glenn. The entire squad had shown improvement over the season with practice and time, and this aspect showed as the season came to a close.

Lady Cougars Miss League Title To P'burg

The Girls' Varsity Basketball Team finished second in the Northern Lakes League this year, finishing behind only first place Perrysburg. In the first confrontation between the two teams, Southview fell 31-30 in a close loss. In the next meeting, Perrysburg won again, but this time with a 49-33 final score. The team had only one other loss, to Findlay, and finished with a spectacular 17-3 overall record and a 12-2 record in the league.

The team opened the season with two non-league games with Bowsher and Clay, and finished both games with victories. Another great win for the team was a 51-46 decision over the previously undefeated Northview team. In the team's other victories, they doubled and sometimes tripled the score of their opponents. The team also outscored their opponents 829-681, a margin of 148 points in 20 games.

In the first game of the second half of the season, Senior Jenni Berkey injured her knee, putting her out of action for part of the season. However, the team's great depth shined through as they continued to win nine more games.

During Coach Chet Trail's third year of working with the girls, he has combined a 54-12 personal record with a philosophy that is an accurate statement of life.

"Life is like basketball, you have to excel in the basics to get what you want out of it," Coach Trail said.

Swimmers Are Dedicated Bunch

Under the coaching of Mr. Bob Van Horn, the 1980-81 Swimming and Diving teams posted a record of 1-8 for the boys' team as of February 6, 1981. This year's Girls' Swimming and Diving Team switched from a spring sport to a winter sport to make the girls' season and the boys' season of equal length.

Last year's standouts were divers Nancy Hauck and Sandy Hernandez, who went to State competition. Nancy placed fifth and Sandy placed fifteenth overall.

According to Coach Van Horn, the standouts on the teams were Senior Co-Captians Steve Abrahamson and Kris Moellenberg; Junior Dan Steele, Junior Mike DeYarmen; Sophomore Doug Roll, and Freshman Mike Roll, and Freshman Mike Chang; Senior Co-Captain Sue Seitz; Senior Co-Captain Sandy Hernandez; and Freshman Carrie Lasobik.

Coach Van Horn said, "The girls' team is a hard working group but they need more members. The boys' team is powerful but still lacking in depth. Eighty percent of them are district scorers."

Gymnasts Tumble Toward Top

"I have a lot of confidence in the girls' performance for future seasons. They improve every time they compete," first year gymnastic Coach Carol Jackson said.

The gymnastic team posted a 5-2 record as of February 5. Their best match this year was against Napoleon, whom they slaughtered by an overwhelming ten points. Of the fourteen talented gymnasts on the team, there were three seniors: Sandy Hernandez, Patty Pietrick, and captain Robin Sosbe. These three girls competed all four years and will be greatly missed next year, but the team does have great depth.

"The girls did very well this year; they had a winning record. They were a great bunch of girls to work with. I do not want to single out anyone because they all have improved since the beginning of the season. Each girl excelled in her own way," coach Jackson said.

Wrestlers Capture NLL

After finishing seventh out of eight teams last year, the Southview Varsity Wrestling Team finished first at the NLL tournament for the first time ever this year, and also posted a 12-1 season record.

At the NLL tournament, held February 21 at Perrysburg, Southview won by over 30 points over second place Springfield. Nine members of the team won matches, including Carl Schnorf, Tim Luck, and Gene Strause, who finished first in their weight classes.

According to Coach Robert Woods, one highlight of the season was Southview winning its own tournament on January 3. It was the first time that the team had won an invitational, and what was even better was that it was their own.

The team was tri-captained by Seniors Ben Goldstein, Mark Gottlieb, and Dave Kent.

"The great success of this year's team was due to the fact that we stressed a team effort and not individual effort. The top of the crop of this year's team were Senior Ben Goldstein (105); Senior Dave Kent (112) who went to state last year; and Senior Gene Strause (167) who also went to state last year, also Junior Jeff Simpson (175)," Coach Woods said. Assisting him this year were coaches Dan Wysowaty and Dave Scarberry.

"It takes a very special person to be a wrestler. He must diet throughout the entire season and that takes extreme discipline. I am proud of the team's dedication and it sure paid off," Coach Woods said.

Icers Work Hard For Victories

Under the direction of Coach Gary Sutherland and Assistant Coach Craig DeCrane, the Southview Hockey Team compiled an overall record of 8-5-2 and a league record of 3-4-2 as of February 15, 1981.

The hockey team was an extremely dedicated group. On Thursday at 5 a.m., while most people were in bed, they were out on the ice working their tails off. This hard work produced rewards. They came back from behind to tie the 1980 State champs Bowling Green.

The Cougars were captained by senior Randy Ingram. Senior Louie Goldstein and Junior Chuck LeBeau spearheaded the Cougar offense with the most goals.

"This year's team was smaller than last year's. Thus, each player had to work that much harder. I feel they have worked as hard as they could and they should be proud of that," Assistant Coach Craig Decrane said.

Majorettes, Flag Girls Add Color And Sparkle To Games

Southview marching band members had an extra ensemble to complement their music this fall at football games — a flag corps and five majorettes to lead them on and off the field.

This year's baton-twirling majorettes were Senior Lisa Maison; Juniors Andrea Mosier and Amy Moses; and Sophomores Karen Skeans and Suzie Raymond.

The ten member flag corps was formed last spring, and the squad practiced throughout the summer in preparation for last fall's performances at all of the Southview football games.

Wrestlerettes: Not Wrestlers, But Valuable Assets

Above all else, wrestlerettes were not female wrestlers. They spent the weeks before wrestling meets learning how to score the matches. Since wrestling is a fast moving sport, the girls had to be quick. A referee would hold up his hand for a few seconds and the wrestlerette had to be able to tell what the move was, how many points were awarded, and whom they were awarded to.

At home matches and tournaments, the girls set up the gym and took care of the jobs a manager/trainer would normally do.

The girls were not cheerleaders, but they did cheer for the boys. The wrestlerettes were a team unit which consisted of the following girls: Leslie Cullen, Carole Freed, Rochelle Goldstein, Becky Knapich, Dawn Miller, Sue McGinley, Cathy McKnight, Linda Olsen, Deana Paccadolmi, Leigh Ann Randall, Jessica Smith, Karen Sturt, Diane Van DeVelde, and Ann Wahl.

Pep Club: Working To Unite School By Involvement

This year's pep club was led by president Robin Sosbe. Sosbe was assisted by treasurer Denise Miller, vice-president Tracey Girdwood, and secretary Connie Werner.

The pep club helped to promote spirit throughout the school year. The club sponsored pep assemblies which encouraged participation; that was what the pep club was about.

The club raised money to show support for the Southview teams. They had bake sales, chain contests, a big sister/little sister program, and Spirit Week among other activities this year.

Pep club was made up of one-hundred and fifty members that became involved by riding pep club sponsored busses to away games and painting pep posters.

Cheerleaders Rally Students

The 25 cheerleaders spent another year rallying their teams to a victory.

The three squads raised their own funds under the supervision of freshman adviser Mrs. Dawn Hartman and Junior Varsity adviser Mrs. Sandra Gould. The cheerleaders made, sold, and delivered about 870 pizzas, which they sold to the faculty and the community.

The Junior Varsity and Varsity squads went to a summer camp at Ohio State University. The girls were there for four days and three nights. They learned safer ways of cheering and many new spirit ideas.

The freshman squad consisted of the following eight: Cathy Birndorf, Jenny Bishop, Darci Feick, Donna Lehnardt, Carrie Lasobik, Stacie Miller, Melissa Millington and Tammi Rench.

The Junior Varsity squad was made up of two sophomores, Lisa Carson and Lori Rider, and six juniors, Susan Ball, Michelle Conley, Nicole Karageorge, Audrey Novak, Susan Reuven, and Amy Schwab.

Student Leaders Unite School

Southview's Student Government performed a very important function — combining the ideas of students, teachers, and administrators to produce results to satisfy all.

The annual Blood Drive, Funday, and the Student Government Auction were only some of the projects undertaken by Student Government.

The Student Government officers the 1980-81 school year were President, Mark Pine; President-Elect, Debbie Katz; Treasurer, Sean Ulmer; and Secretary, Ann Wahl. The adviser of Student Government was Mrs. Liz Dutton.

A Chance To Advance

Southview offered a number of honorary clubs for those students who had the ability or wanted a chance to gain recognition.

Quill and Scroll, the National Honorary Society for high school journalists, gave students from Southview with outstanding journalistic success on one of the school publications national recognition.

Potential members of the National Honor Society (NHS) were required to have an accumulative grade point average of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale. Also participation in extracurricular activities and teacher recommendations were taken into consideration as the 31 new members were chosen last spring. Miss Kathy Putnam, club adviser, said such NHS-sponsored activities as the carnation sales were very successful.

The National Forensic League (NFL) offered students that excelled in speaking ability the chance to advance to national-level competition through weekly participation in speech tournaments. Points accumulated during these competitions were applied towards degree merit certificates. Mr. George Bang was the NFL adviser.

The Quiz Bowl team competed with other area high school teams on WTVG and in a separate quiz bowl league. Miss Marilyn Hoffman, club adviser, said the club was for students who excelled in trivia facts and specialized areas.

The chess club, small but dedicated, placed 7th in Ohio as a team in state competition held last spring in Columbus.

A newly established club, Dungeons and Dragons, introduced students to an intellectual computer game under the direction of Mr. Richard Hartman.

Traveling Around The World

The Southview Language department enjoyed another year of spreading a little foreign culture into the student body of Southview.

The most visible of these groups was the French Club. With their adivser Mrs. Estelle Vardinaikis, club members sponsored or participated in a number of activities, such as the annual Mardi Gras, various bake sales, and the Toledo International Festival.

Also contributing to Southview's language program was adivser Mrs. Constance Stackpole's members of the German and Latin clubs.

Mr. Ramon Garcia returned to teach Spanish after a one year absence, and also took over duties as adviser of the Spanish club.

Members of American Field Services, (AFS), added to the language department's efforts by bringing several students from different corners of the world to live in America for a short while and to learn at Southview.

The members of the Southview Speech and Debate team enjoyed another successful season under the direction of speech coach Mr. George Bang and debate coach Mrs. Mary Kay Schroom.

Competition began November 15, and ended with the state competition on March 6 and 7. Team members competed against other schools within the state of Ohio.

To raise money for their tournaments, team members sold Entertainment '81 coupon books, held bake sales, collected election results for WTVG, and sold "Cougars Cage Cats" t-shirts for the Northview-Southview football game.

Activities For The Future

Every year, members of the Senior Carpentry class build a house in Sylvania as a project. Their adviser, Mr. Gale Vaughn, assisted the class members in a number of other projects this year, such as the building of the shelter for the parking lot guard and the construction of bench seats in back of the school.

One career-oriented class helped to beautify Southview and the Sylvania area. The Horticulture club, under the direction of Mr. Richard Frederick, was involved in many landscaping projects during the previous year, as well as selling flowers and working to beautify Southview's landscape.

A new club introduced to Southview in 1978 was the Future Homemakers of America, whose members learned about skills that would come in handy in the years to come. The club, aimed toward Home Economics students, was advised by Mrs. Ruth Vaznellis and Mrs. Jan Crandall.

The Steno I and Steno II groups, with advisers Mrs. Donna Snyder and Mrs. Sherrie Gilchrist, learned basic and advanced secretarial skills, with an emphasis on typing and shorthand. The Steno II group, composed of seniors, met in the morning for four periods, while the Steno I juniors met during the morning.

Trades, Clubs Develop Skills

Southview's varied curriculum offered students an opportunity to learn about and participate in various aspects of the world of business and career trades.

The Occupational Work Adjustments, (OWA) program gave freshmen a chance to learn basic career skills. It was a prerequisite to Occupational Work Experience, (OWE); a class in which juniors and seniors participated in an employment program.

Diversified Co-operative Training, (DCT), let seniors pursue their fields of interest such as drafting or interior design, and work on them in and outside of the classrooms.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America, (DECA), chapter at Southview enjoyed another prosperous year lead by DECA adviser Mr. Charles Johnston. Mr. Johnston and his students helped coordinate a number of Southview activities, such as the magazine drive and a dance. DECA members also operated the candy store in the commons and the book store.

Southview's latest sport to gain varsity status was the Soccer team, coached this year by Mr. Mark Maison. The team turned in a very good first season, 11-1-3, playing games against other Toledo area high schools such as Start, Central Catholic, Whitmer, and Maumee during the fall sports season.

Lending A Helping Hand

It would have been difficult for the different offices in Southview to function without the help of the many students who volunteered their free time to help the secretaries. Undoubtedly their work was greatly appreciated.

The Resource Center aides helped to keep things running smoothly for librarians Mrs. Mary Harlan and Mrs. Janet Foist. The aides organized books and periodicals and helped students check out materials.

Attendance office workers had the capable assistance of several students who answered phones and filed attendance cards and admit slips. The guidance department workers had similar duties.

Another group who donated their talents to the school were the morning announcers. These people did their best to give the announcements in a cheerful manner every morning. The speakers were chosen in the fall by their adviser, Mrs. Mary Kay Schroom.

Keeping The School Informed

This year's Catalyst staff, under the direction of publications adviser Miss Cheryl Kilborn, produced 18 issues of the school newspaper.

The staff was the largest to date — 20 students who provided informative yet entertaining news for their readers. Staff members wrote, laid-out, edited, and proofread the paper and devoted many hours of class time and after-school work to meet their deadlines.

Putting The Pages Together

Last September in the coldest corner of the building, a dedicated staff of 27 juniors and seniors gathered to produce what you are reading right now, the 1981 Meridian.

Staff selections were made in the spring of last year under the supervision of Miss Cheryl Kilborn, publications adviser, and co-editors Karen Nussbaum and Renee Russeau. The selected staff was then divided into sections such as Associations, Sports, and Student Life.

Financial matters were in the capable hands of Business Manager Denise Miller and her assistant, Laurie Blossom.

Using "A Feeling of Togetherness" as the theme for this year's book, the staff went to work — laying out pages, writing copy, meeting deadlines, and using their talents to produce a book made to help remember the 1980-81 school year.

Cougar Bands Build Spirit

To be a Southview band member, one had to be willing to practice long hours, learn their music, and combine those elements with the skill of marching in order to be a participant in this year's many activities of the marching band.

Practice for the pre-game and halftime shows began as early as mid-August in order to prepare for the first show at the end of August at the Northview-Southview game. The marching band ended their football season with the annual marching band concert, held in the Southview gymnasium.

Basketball season also brought on an opportunity for the pep band to produce spirit during all of the Southview home basketball games in the players as well as in the fans.

The band had time to practice in school fifth period everyday. This year's director was Mr. Jay Hall, and his assistant was Mr. Timothy Hoffman.

Southview Voices Sing Out

Director Mr. Lyle Miller and the 27 members of the Southview Symphonic Choir participated in a number of activities during the year.

Their most notable appearance was on WSPD radio in December for an afternoon show of seasonal music. They also gave winter and spring concerts and a number of performances outside the school as well, to help boost the image of Southview outside of the school as well as inside.

The Sounds Of Southview

The Southview Orchestra met five days a week under the guidance and direction of Mr. Joseph Myers. The Orchestra went through a very successful year, giving four concerts during the year. They were: the fall concert, held at Bowsher with four other local schools, the winter concert, and the spring concert, along with the All-Sylvania concert also held in the spring, which brought together the orchestras of Northview, Southview, Arbor Hills, McCord and the elementary schools.

To end the year, the orchestra played at the graduation ceremony for the class of '81 in June.

Karen and Sue:

Ten years from now, when you find yourself beginning to forget high school and your memories begin to fade (and you have lost all of those collages and books!), look back on this and remember all of those times too great to forget . . .

Did someone say food?? . . . The Hearse — a straw, no less?! . . . Sue, stay away from those PRs with moustaches! . . . B,B,B,B, . . . Elephant Oasis . . . PUG! (it's hopeless) . . . chicken bone (now, that's sick!) (but what a riot!) . . . Hey you guys, I have this great idea . . . DSR (my time will come — hah!) . . . everyone needs it . . . Waver (what a way to get a name), Ralph (j.o.n.), and Drac (moral — hah!) . . . Mr. and Mrs. Pibb ("but why?") . . . Killer Toilet . . . nuns and flickering lights . . . Stranahan (real dry sand!) . . . Macs is cheap (but what a collection!) . . . Let's Stay Out All Night! (give it up! . . . OK, next year we'll (Florida, OU, camping, Cleveland, a concert, OSU, Central Motel — oops!) . . . who's juvenile? . . . playgrounds, bubbles, cheap sunglasses, squirt guns, deputy sheriffs, rainbows, baseball shirts, my norities . . . your mother (my mother?!) . . . OK (ok) . . . baby food (now, that was funny!) . . . Revised (one more time!) PUG . . . Frank Undies (or Macs, for sure) . . . Strap a pizza to your waist and . . . oh, the DIC Club! . . . Poker for Guys ("do they know about this?") . . . Necessities for ANY Prom! . . . Karen 1 and 2 (snort) . . . The Crew . . . Red Bandanna (where?!). T-Leese (censored — Steve's Gal), Su-z (your're just no fun!) . . . Hey Bucco, wanna get lucky? . . . let's moon . . . Cedar Point (swell time) . . . bumpy boonie roads (go on, sing the rest!) . . . Karen, when will we double?! (oh no) . . . I'll never use this pen again! . . . well, if you insist . . . no aspirin for me . . . oh, dilemma . . . The Disenchanted (now what?) . . . you're so gullible! (I'm sorry) . . . key fumblers . . . sado!! . . . points, points (rack up those babies) . . . Boots! L and I . . . I need money (Beanie??) . . . Michael Stanley (full blast!!) . . . Lunch (well, fun or funny?) (and talk about a soap opera!) . . . Giant igloo (it's worth it!), shower (uh oh) — and many, many more! . . . Senior Prom: I fear for my garter (ha ha) . . . Hall-of-Famers . . . whip it . . . ok, it's Monday, so let's plan for Saturday (good luck!) . . . Has it really been almost two years??? . . .

. . . Thanks for everything (and I do mean everything!). It's been great (interesting and different!). Now, when we're in college, let's get together for a week and go to Florida and . . . ("Stop laughing at me!!") . . .

Love, Karen 2

Greg, It is with great pride and joy to congratulate you on your graduation day.
Mr. & Mrs. J.T. Mott

Congratulations Wendy & friends. Wendy we are so proud of you! We wish you all the happiness in the world. We love you.
Mr. & Mrs. Don Willard, Amy & Kirk

May your future hold hope, faith, and love, with lots of luck added too. We're proud of you Todd.
Mr. & Mrs. Carl Richard

We can do anything we want to do if we stick to it long enough.
— Helen Keller

. . . Now this moment — sweet success —
with doubts and fears forever past
I have found my dream and with it
I have found myself at last.

R.A. Tankersley

The 1981 Staff–What A Way To Celebrate!

Final deadline was quickly approaching when we suddenly realized, to our panic, that the traditional staff picture spread had yet to be done. The staff was asked to suggest ideas for the two pages and finally, because so few were actually submitted, their editors pulled them all together and forced them to decide (and all in one day, no less!) what they wanted to do.

The idea of food, by far the most popular, caught on quickly and a vote for a Farrell's party was almost unanimously accepted.

And so, after collecting money and permission slips, 19 members of the 1981 Meridian staff set off for Farrell's. For the management, the day will probably live in infamy, but for our staff members, it was an interesting way to celebrate the close of our last deadline . . .

A) BACK ROW: Marla Cooper; SECOND ROW: David Danzeisen, Scott Spychala, Steve Dolin; THIRD ROW: Marla Reinstein, Mike Liebenthal, Sarah Leupp; FOURTH ROW: Karen Nussbaum, Denise Miller, Kim Lauman; FIFTH ROW: Kim Judis, Kay Ochs, Renee Russeau; SIXTH ROW: Lilah Chang, Nan Tertel, Becky Geiger; SEVENTH ROW: Debbie Katz, Chris Ludlum, Kristin Jackson; EIGHTH ROW: Alison Levey, Chase Clements, Lori Parker; FRONT ROW: Laurie Blossom, Carol Ogle, Carol Faison.

F) Junior Chris Ludlum always goes a little crazy after eating ice cream, as Debbie Katz will attest.

E) Junior Alison Levey attempts to humor the bored and impatient Laurie Blossom.

D) Senior Scott Spychala deliberates over the complexities of his party favor while Renee Russeau and Junior Dave Danzeisen eagerly await their ice cream.

C) Senior Cindy Miller contemplates proper ice cream eating techniques but Sarah Leupp, unconcerned with such trivialities, digs right in.

B) Senior Marla Cooper is not about to give up one of her two good party favors to Denise Miller, and Karen Nussbaum is too engrossed with her clown sundae to notice.

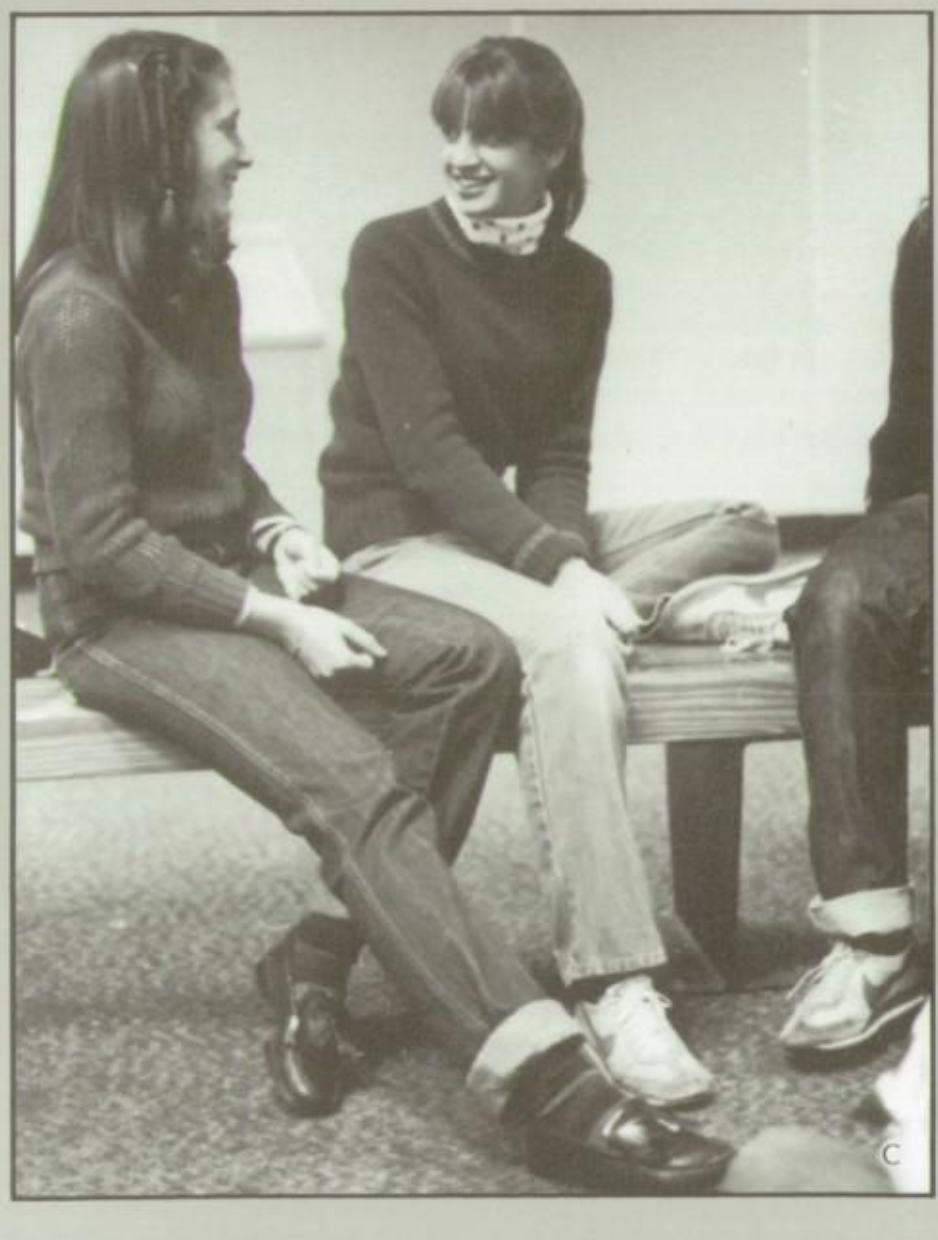
Togetherness Is. . . Southview

1981 . . . it seemed like just any other year. Another Freshman class moved in and another Senior class moved on. It was a year in which new memories were created, new ties were formed, and students once again settled down to the business of establishing new groups, clubs, and teams, and kindling feelings of unity.

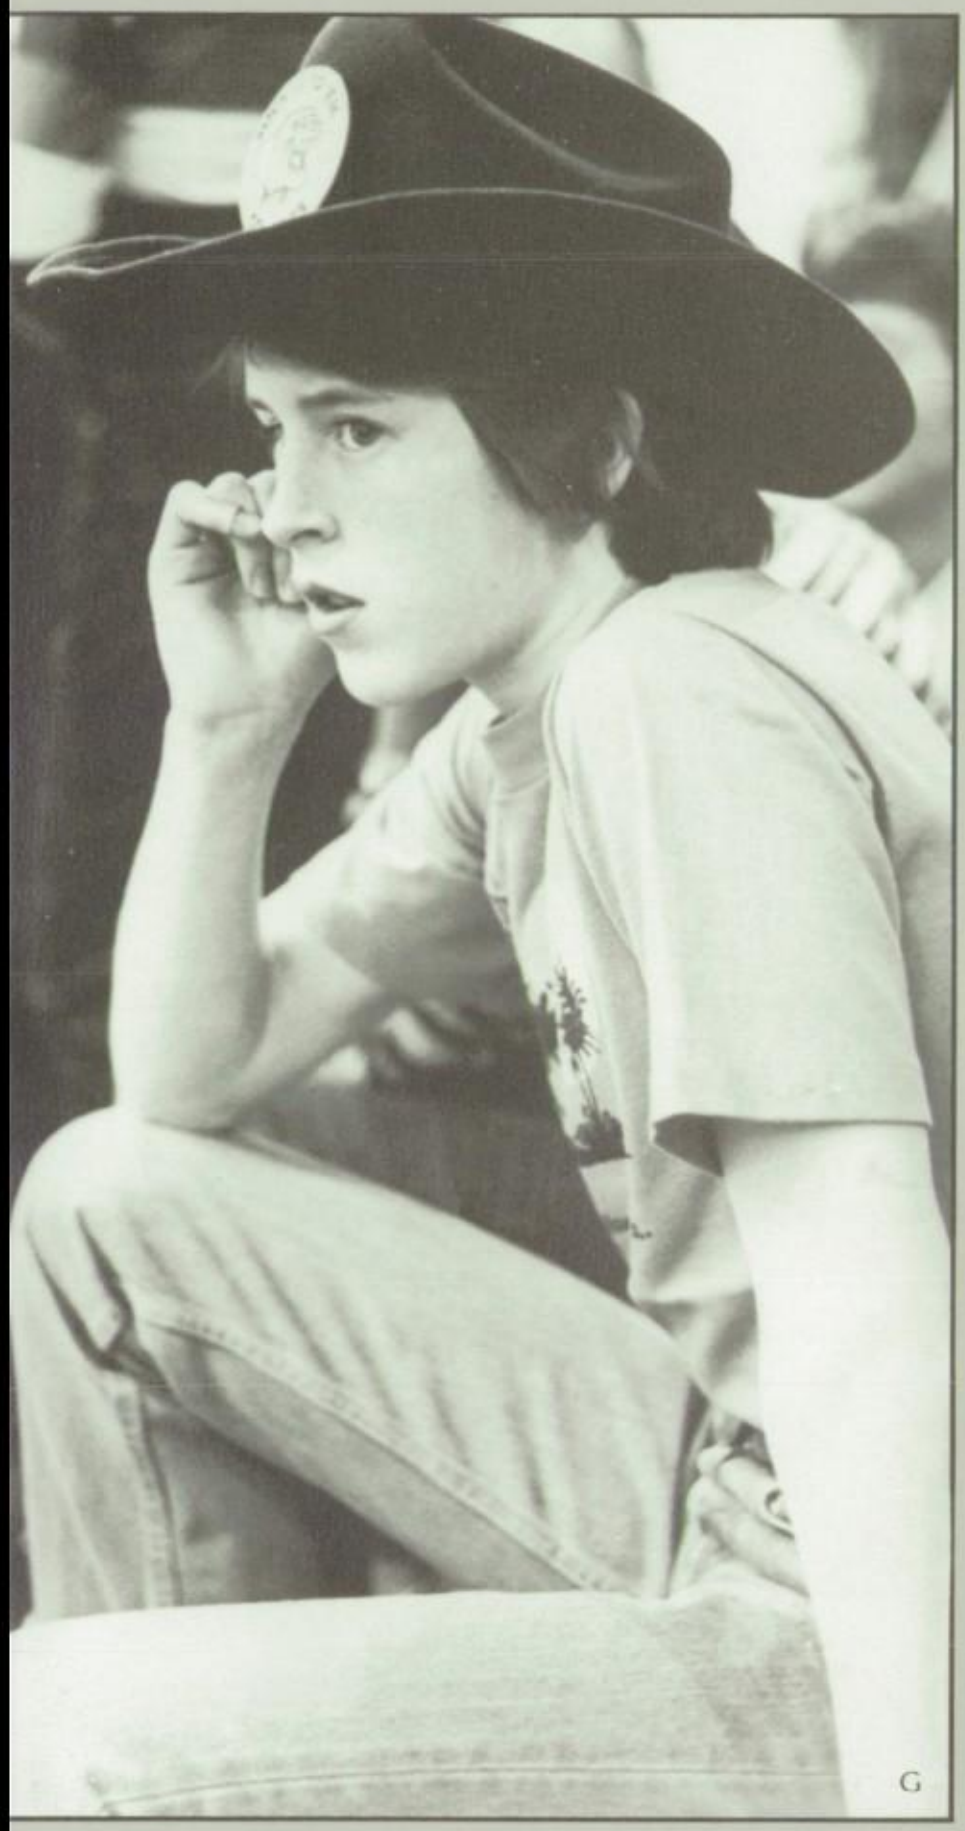
Taken on the surface, the past year at Sylvania Southview will probably not seem to particularly stand out in the annals of our school's history. But upon closer inspection, it really was not just "another" year at all, but one well worth remembering.

A) Decked out in their finest, the Varsity Basketball Team watches a skit during a pep assembly.

B) Seniors Jon Mandel and Todd Bergwall comment on the football team's strategy while the crowd behind them chants and cheers.



C) Freshmen Missy Green and Wendy White laugh over the latest gossip during their commons period.



G

G) Sophomore Gordon Loud watches a basketball game with intense interest.

F) Sophomore Mark Dolin and Junior Tammy Kauss check over their homework before their next class begins.

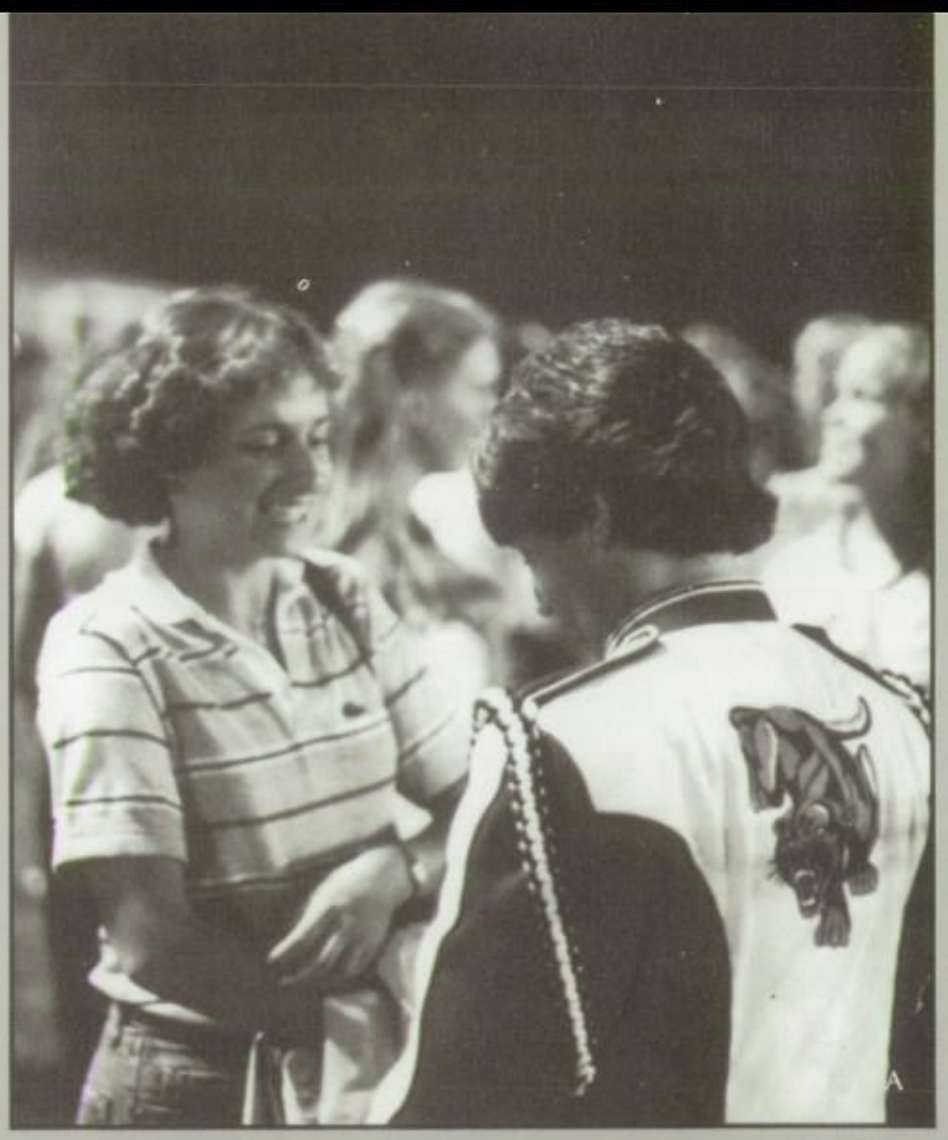
Juniors Kris Reifert and Julie Orlet appear slightly bored with the goings-on of the game.

E) Senior Gretchen Bear impatiently waits for some business.

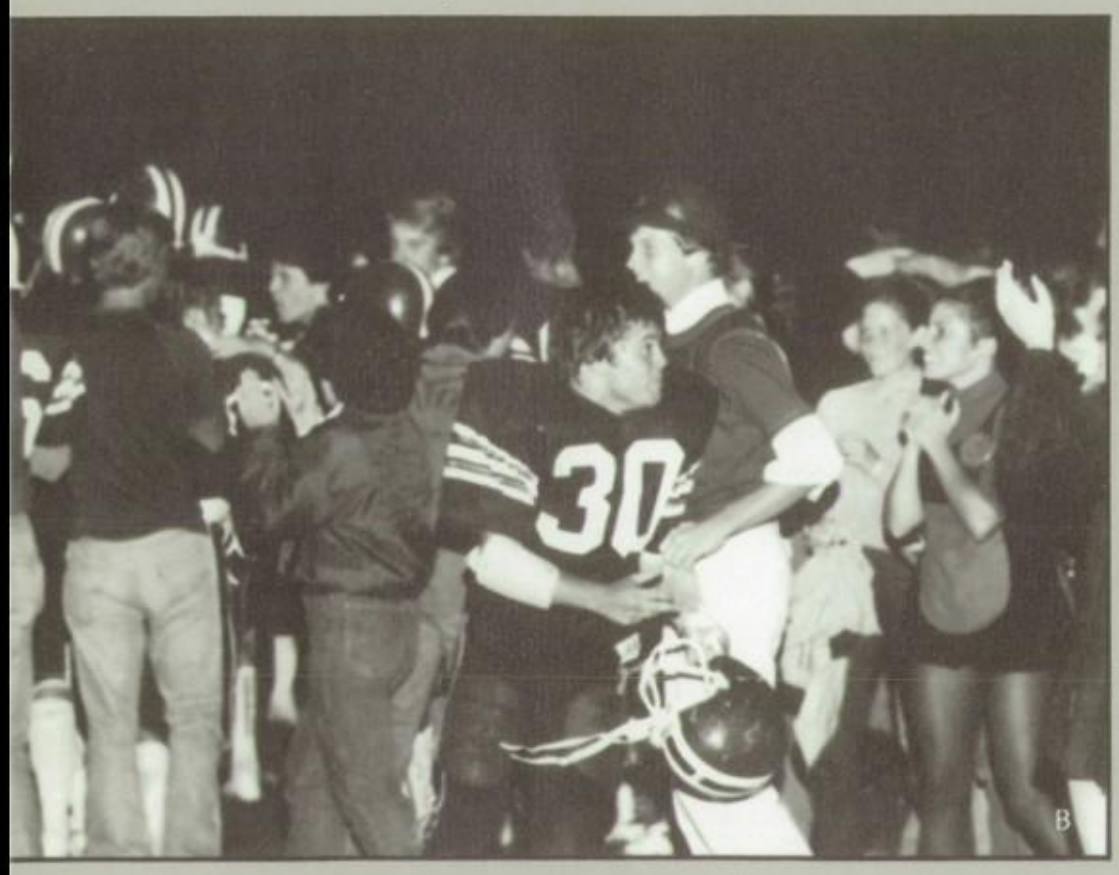
In the future, 1980-1981 may trigger other people's memories only as far as the return of the hostages, the election of Ronald Reagan to the Presidency, and the death of John Lennon, but to the students of Southview, it should recall plenty more remembrances . . .

. . . It was the year in which ID cards were required to check out Resource Center materials, academic letters were awarded to students who had made the honor roll seven times, two new counselors and one new assitant principal were added to the staff, and the School Board's policy on religion stirred up great controversy. The Boys' Varsity Basketball Team won their first home game in two years this year, Student Government began a new tradition with their February Cominghome Dance, students witnessed the construction as well as the destruction of the guard house, and the Speech and Debate Teams sent a record nineteen members to state competition, and two to national competition. That is quite a list, but it is not all; many other teams and individuals helped to make the students proud of their school and its numerous accomplishments as well.

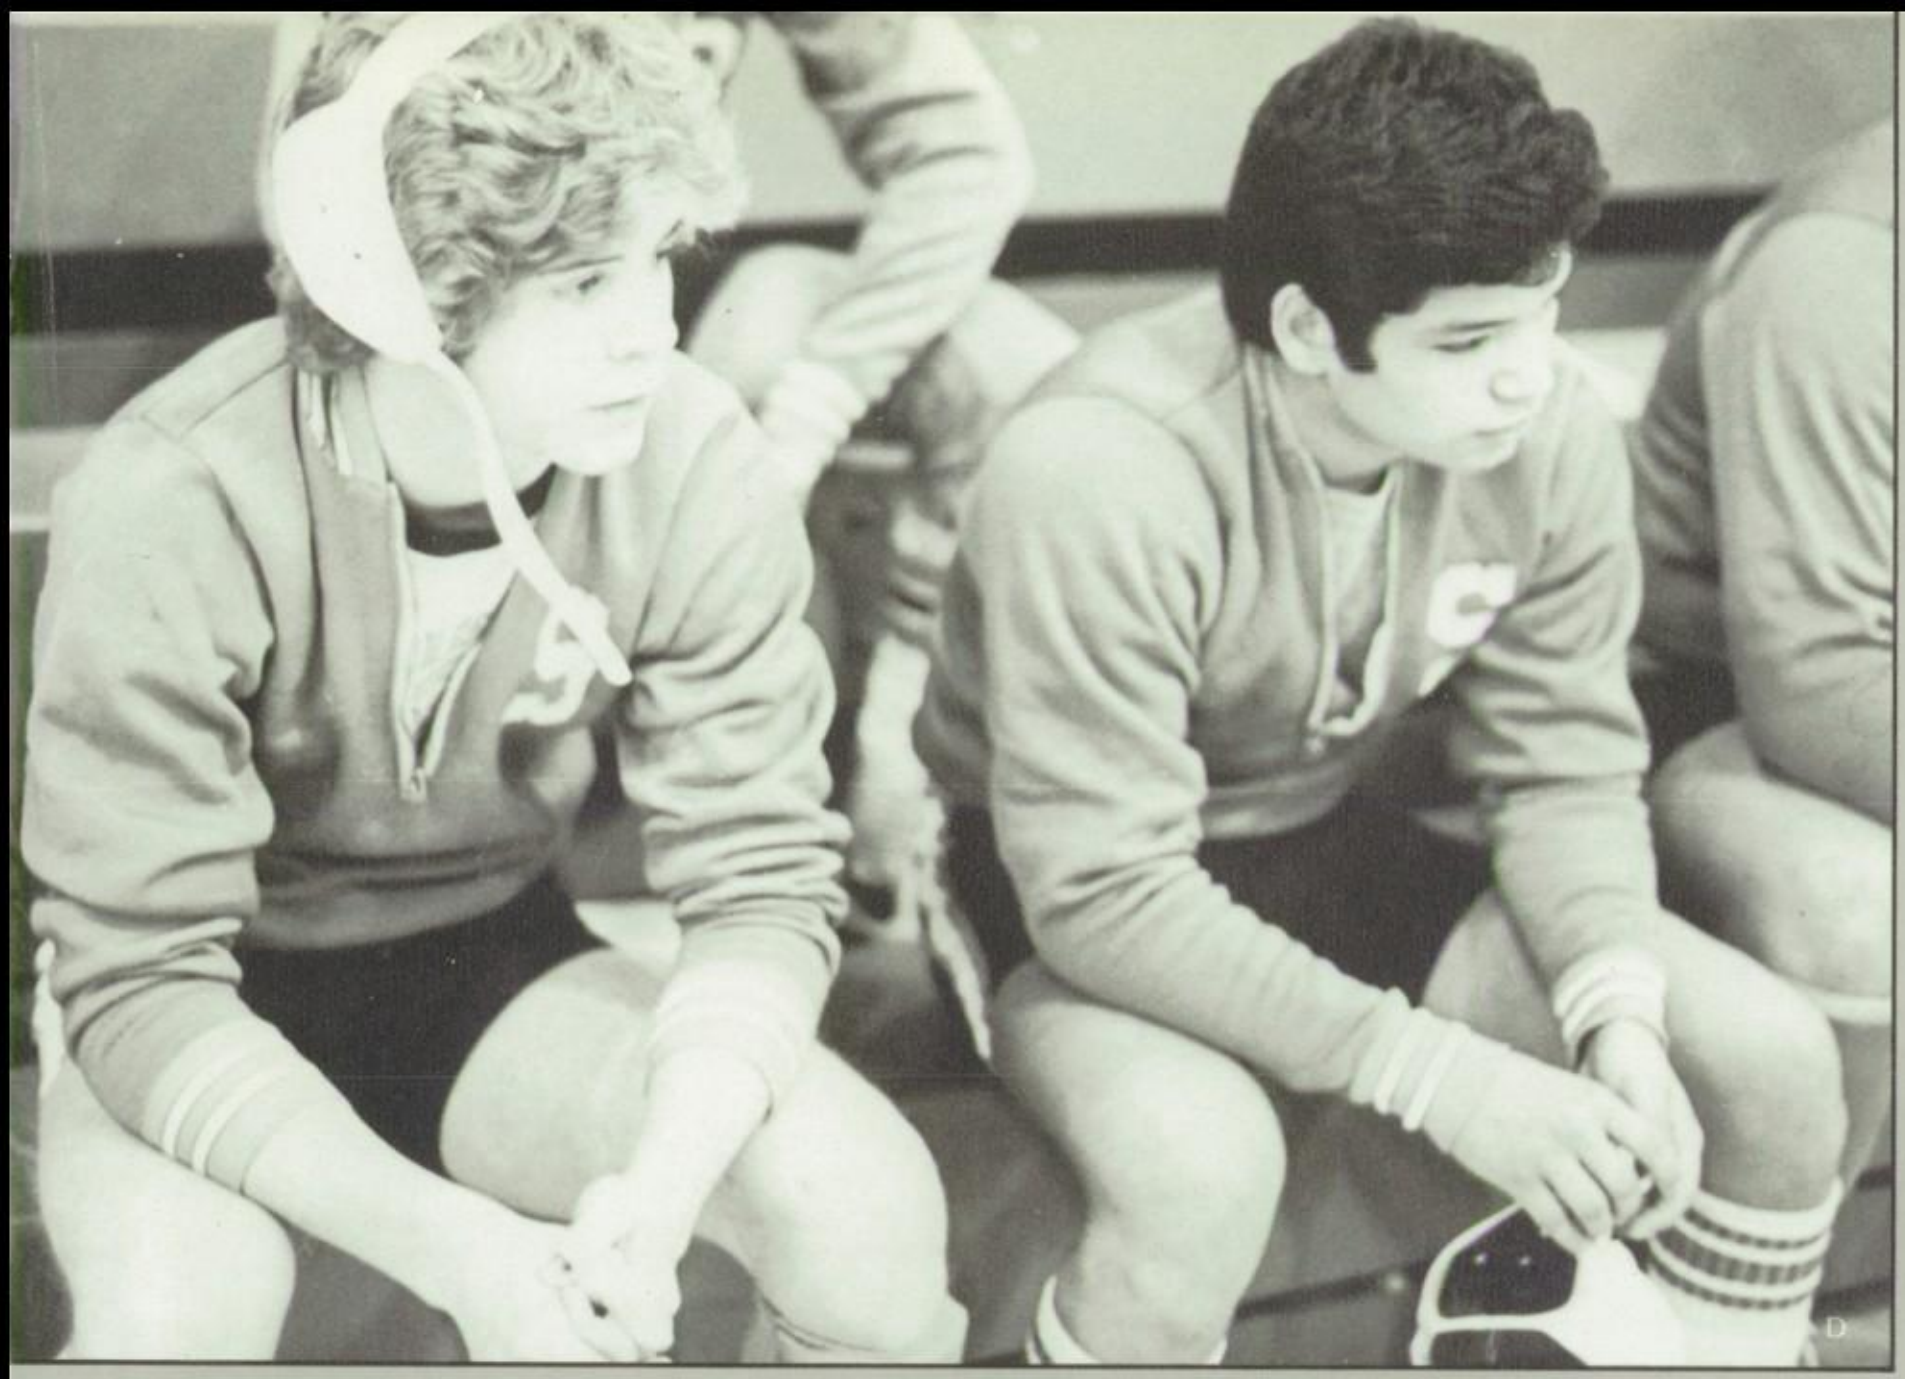


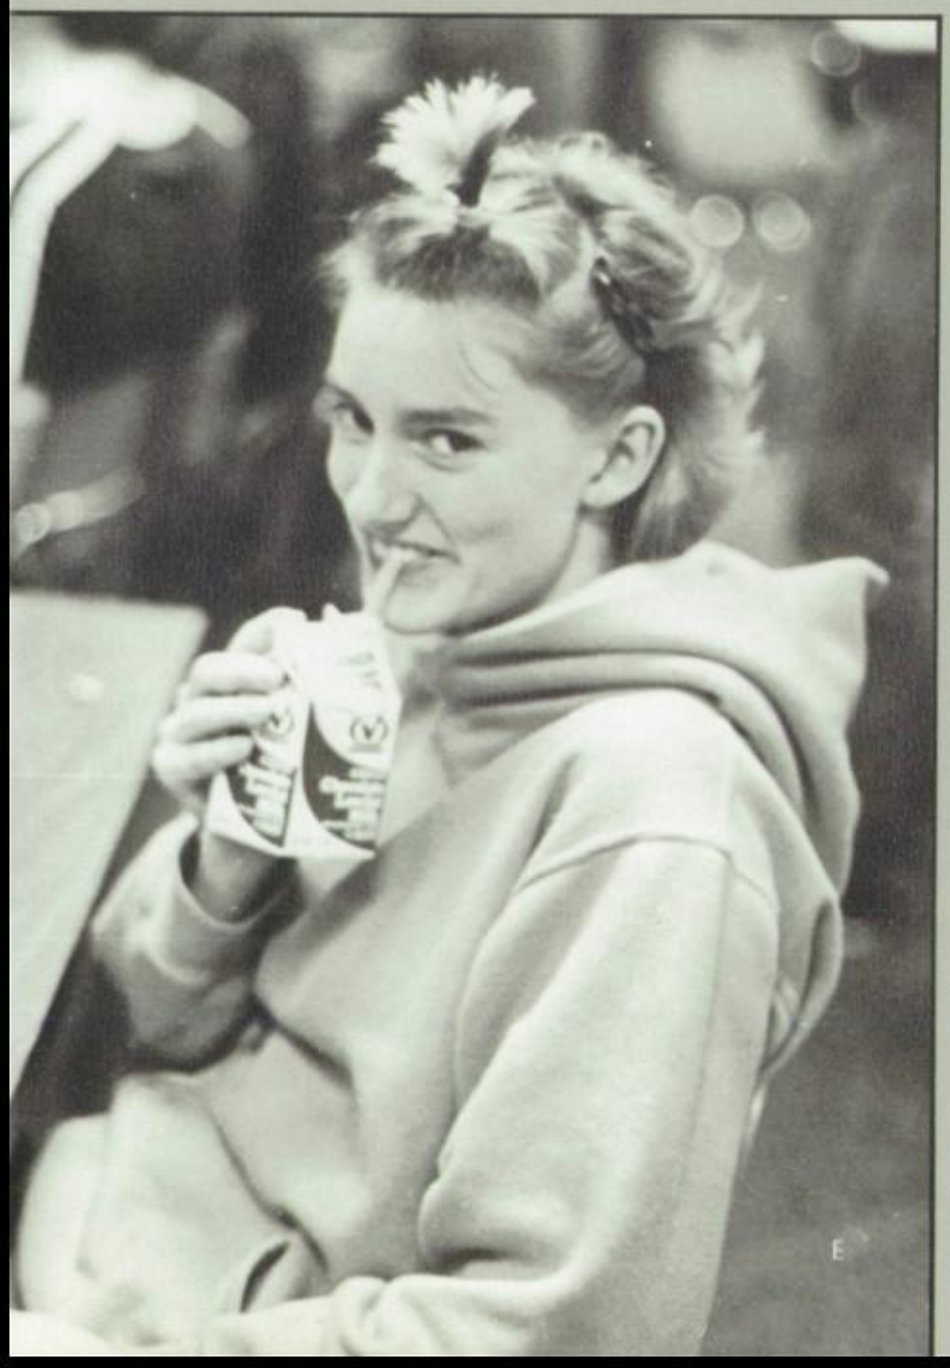
A) Juniors Debbie Katz and Andrea Benjamin discuss their summer activities during the NV-SV game.

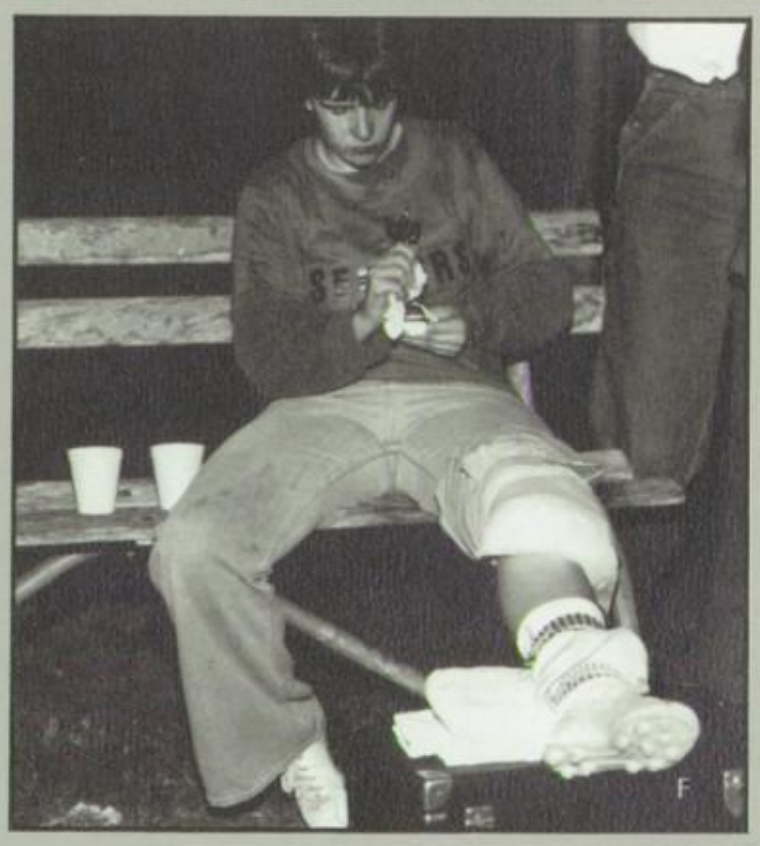
B) Senior Wes Strickland rejoices with the football team and fans from the stands after the team's first victory.



C) Junior Debbie Duvendack uses her commons to do some thought-collecting.







F) Senior Lisa Kasprzak cleans her glasses while nursing an injured leg received during the Powder-puff game.

E) Senior Debbie Booth smiles as she downs her milk during lunch.

D) Sophomores Don Crawford and Pete Rios wait for their turn to wrestle.

On June 7, the class of '81 will leave Southview for the last time, and in September, the class of '85 will take their first steps through the school's doors, and the cycle will begin again. Attitudes will change and policies will be reworked, but the basic feeling of togetherness in this school will prevail.

Togetherness . . . it is, after all, Southview.

A) Juniors Erin Malone and Greg Rochte cheer on the Basketball team from the sidelines.
